Labor Is Promoting 1964 Vote Support Friends Plan Is Under Way

NEW YORK (AP) — The AFL-CIO geared up today for a campaign to galvanize millions of union members to vote for organized labor's friends in next year's elections.

The 167-member general board of the AFL-CIO, in announcing plans for its grassroots drive, criticized state laws that make it difficult to register to vote.

A spokesman said the AFL-CIO will fight voter literacy tests that are unfairly applied, and said there are examples in some Northern states, including New York, as well as in the South.

Criticize Romney

He said the AFL-CIO plan to name "registrars" in every local union is also aimed at counteracting purges of voter lists. He said George M. Romney of Michigan was "the one governor who has retrogressed" in this field.

Romney, sometimes mentioned as a possible Republican presidential nominee, was criticized for a recent Michigan law requiring voters to re-register every two years instead of four.

Shortly after the political program was announced, AFL-CIO leaders heard U.N. Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson ask labor's help in defeating "the lunatic fringe" and "right-wing extremists" who he said want to return the United States to a isolationism.

The AFL-CIO moved on to politics after the 1,200 convention delegates passed a stiff civil rights resolution that stirred a flurry of dissent.

Squabble on Rights

An attempt to add to the resolution a charge that labor itself had not been putting its full weight behind the civil rights movement set off the squabble.

The motion to adopt the critical language, voiced by A. Philip Randolph, AFL-CIO's only Negro vice president, was defeated after President George Meany said labor is the best friend of the civil rights movement.

Meany said there are better targets for "abuse," such as corporations that pay only lip service to equal rights, white citizens councils and Southern political figures who block civil rights legislation, such as Sen. James O. Eastland, D-Miss.

In outlining the AFL-CIO's political plan, a spokesman said it is aimed at registering millions of persons who don't vote, most of them in labor wards. Some $750,000 will be spent on the registration drive, a spokesman said.

Planners to Meet For Organization On Monday Night

The newly created Ulster County Planning Board will meet next Monday at 8 p. m. at the Ulster County Court House for purpose of organization.

Supervisor Clarence C. Raichle, (R), Twelfth Ward, in announcing the first meeting of the Planning Board stressed the importance of all members of the newly created Planning Board being in attendance.

Raichle for Fast Start

Raichle, chairman of the Ulster County Industrial Committee, said he was interested in early activation of the County Planning Board and would move as rapidly as possible toward the formation of an executive committee to get the Planning Board moving.

The meeting Monday night will bring together for the first time the 27-man County Planning Board and Raichle said the meeting would be open to people interested in county planning.

Among the guests invited will be Albert E. Kurd, executive secretary of the Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce and Dale Swartzmiller, New York State Department of Commerce regional director.

The Ulster County Planning Board was authorized at a recent meeting of the Ulster County Board of Supervisors, after supervisors had submitted a list of recommendations for membership from each of the 20 towns of the county, each incorporated village and the City of Kingston.

Members on Board

William H. Kuehn and Elmore C. Yallum of Kingston were named to the board. The members from the five villages are Deyo Johnson, Ellenville; Byron White, New Paltz; Edwin France, Fine Hill; John O'Sullivan, Rosendale and Anthony Vucovich, Saugerties.

Members from the towns of the county are: Denning, Richard Dickerson, Esopus; William Van Benschoten, Gardiner; Reiner Thibien, Hardenburgh; Reginald Todd, (Continued on Page 21, Col. 8)

Aims at Undoing Steel Fight

JFK Talks to Business With Friendship Tone

WASHINGTON (AP) — With fresh reassurances of friendship for business, President Kennedy again is trying to narrow the chasm opened 18 months ago in the steel price crisis.

Before a business audience Monday Kennedy sounded a peace - and - prosperity theme that will be heard often before election day, 1964 — peace between the administration and business, prosperity for all.

Kennedy has done much to calm the tempest stirred in April 1962 between the White House and Wall Street, his advisers believe. He has enlisted the support of blue - ribbon industry leadership in his drives for civil rights, tax cuts, tariff reduction and export expansion.

The ninth in a new series of forums, conducted throughout the state by the State Bar's Committee on Continuing Legal Education, the Kingston meeting will open with registration at 9 a. m., and lectures at 9:30 a. m., and run throughout the day.

Lecturers will include John J. Fromer, Albany, deputy secretary of state; Professors Burton Andrews of Albany Law School, and Robert A. Kessler of Fordham School of Law.

In charge of arrangements is Frederick J. Hmiel, director of Continuing Legal Education for the State Bar.

Believes Wastebasket Fire Set at Vocational School

A wastebasket fire, which Fire Chief James M. Brett suspects could have been maliciously started shortly after dismissal time at the Vocational School Monday afternoon, was apparently unnoticed by several persons in the building until it set off a sprinkler head and alarm.

It consumed contents, and most of the combustible pressed paper trash container, and is under investigation.

Chief Brett today emphasized that the blaze was the second within three years in a local school building, which had been unnoticed by occupants until a sprinkler and connected alarm were activated.

The other on the morning of Dec. 20, 1960 at St. Joseph's School started in cartons of paper towels and tissue stored in a basement room. The building was evacuated after two sprinkler heads went off and the alarm sounded.

The fire Monday was in the boys' wash room on the first floor of the school. Several pupils, teachers and maintenance men were still in the building, Chief Brett said that even though some of them were less than 30 feet from the fire, it was unnoticed.

Units from Central, Cornell and Wiltyock stations, the Wicks, Rapid, Excelsior and Union companies, answered a call at 3:28 p. m. Deputy Chief George D. Matthews assisted the chief. Firemen said the wash room was heavily charged with smoke when they arrived. A wall

But his address to the Florida State Chamber of Commerce at Tampa was a tipoff that he remains sensitive to the business community's lingering suspicion and hostility which erupted from a relationship that was never too cozy from the start.

Record corporation earnings attest that businessmen are prospering as never before, Kennedy said, yet many still believe his administration is anti-business, wants to "soak the rich," seeks new federal controls for controls sake, and wishes to magnify the federal bureaucracy.

Pro-Public, He Says

"The hard facts contradict these doubts," Kennedy told the chamber. The administration is neither pro-business nor anti-business, he said, but is "pro - the public interest."

He appealed for harmony instead of hostility, for mutual co-operation and respect so that all mankind could prosper "in an age of peace and abundance."

He offered rebuttal, item by item, for the four accusations which he said were most frequently made by businessmen — topheavy federal government, continuing deficits and rising debt, inflationary fiscal policies and growing federal spending.

Few of his aides expect that Kennedy will draw the vote of many corporation heads next November, but they want Kennedy to calm any fears among the millions of Americans who identify their welfare with that of business even though they never met a payroll.

Many citizens, officials now concede, were shaken by the weight of government power rolled up by Kennedy to quash the general price increase posted by major steelmakers in 1962. The arsenal of weapons — diversion of military contracts, antitrust probes, congressional investigations and public denunciation of industry leaders — was believed needlessly massive by many who otherwise sympathized with the President's position.

$50,000 Building Plan Started by Port Ewen Church

Tentative plans for a $50,000 education building were approved by trustees of the Port Ewen Methodist Church Monday night.

The masonry and glass structure will house the expanding Sunday school program of the church as well as providing church office and meeting room facilities.

It is expected that building will start in the spring at the back of the church. At the present time, plans call for 36 by 46 foot two-story building. Plans also stipulate refurbishing of the present church hall.

The Rev. Cecil L. McFarland, pastor said that the expansion of educational facilities at the Port Ewen church are part of an overall long range program which will eventually include all the church buildings.

The Sunday school now has classes for nursery through adult with enrollment nearing the 100 mark.

Says U.S. Nuclear Deterrent Is Far Better Than Reds

NEW YORK (AP) — Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara says "I would not trade our strategic posture for that of the Soviets at any point during the coming decade."

McNamara said the United States has a strategic nuclear deterrent far superior to that of the Soviet Union. Also, he said, this country has combat-ready, mobile conventional forces armed with tactical nuclear weapons at least the equal of any the Soviet Union and its allies could mobilize in Europe.

McNamara's report, made in a speech at a dinner of the Economic Club of New York Monday night, had been billed as a major policy speech and was believed to be the Kennedy administration's answer to recent Soviet actions in Berlin and tough talk by Premier Khrushchev.

No More Takeovers Says JFK Appeals on Cuba, Courts Two States

By FRANK CORMIER
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy settled back into his workaday routine today, but only temporarily, after a hectic Florida trip capped by an appeal to the Cuban people to overthrow the Castro regime.

Kennedy, who will be taking off again Thursday on an equally fast-paced Texas trip, promised Monday night that Americans will fight to block any future Communist takeover in the hemisphere.

Ready to Aid Cubans

And the President said the United States is ready to help Cubans establish a progressive government without fear of a return to the economic and political system of the old Batista dictatorship.

Kennedy's significant foreign policy address climaxed a five-day speech tour of Tampa and Miami.

The President's whirlwind schedule was reminiscent of the itinerary for a political campaign. He will spend three days touring the major cities of Texas.

Real Warmup for 1964

In White House parlance, Kennedy's trips to Florida and Texas, the South's two most populous states, must be classed as "nonpolitical." However, few observers doubted that the mounting tempo of presidential travel was anything but a warmup for the 1964 election campaign.

During his day in Florida, Kennedy chose his audiences with care: a general public gathering at Tampa; separate appearances before business and labor groups in that city; a frankly partisan airport pep rally in Miami, and the hemisphere policy talk at the Miami Beach convention of the Inter-American Press Association.

Courting Two States

Kennedy lost Florida to Republican Richard M. Nixon by a slim margin in 1960. Texas time was in the Kennedy column by an equally precarious edge.

Kennedy, in his discussion of Cuba, said that "nothing is possible" in the way of Cuban-American cooperation so long as the Caribbean island is "a victim of foreign imperialism."

Gov. Scranton Disturbed

Goldwater Won't Halt Pennsylvania Backers

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Barry Goldwater said today he will not call off supporters' efforts to enter presidential nomination delegates in the April 28 Pennsylvania primary.

Pennsylvania's Republican governor, William W. Scranton, is reportedly disturbed by the move.

Can't Curb Supporters

But Goldwater, Arizona Republican who has delayed any announcement of his intention to seek the party's 1964 presidential nomination, said he cannot control his supporters in the key state of Pennsylvania which will have 62 votes toward the 655 needed for victory in the GOP nominating convention.

"I am not a candidate for the presidential nomination and there is nothing I can do about what my friends in Pennsylvania may undertake," Goldwater said in an interview.

"If they want to enter delegates in the primary that's none of my business. I certainly won't discourage them or take any part one way or the other."

Scranton, who looks with apprehension on Goldwater's unannounced but blossoming bid for the presidential nomination, has arranged to confer with Goldwater Wednesday.

Foremost on the governor's mind is a wait-and-see program for Pennsylvania's feuding Republicans. This would entail the governor's heading a favorite-son ticket of delegates which would go to the San Francisco convention uncommitted to any major candidate.

Saugerties Board Rescinds Free Parking Nov.-May

The Saugerties Village Board Monday night rescinded the amended parking meter ordinance of the previous administration which would have provided for free parking for the period Nov. 1-May 15.

Mayor William Ziegler said this means that the original ordinance will be kept in force requiring motorists to pay the designated fees in all village parking meter areas.

The previous administration voted last March to amend the ordinance to provide six months of free parking in the metered zones during the November-May period. As a result, the meter (Continued on Page 10, Col. 2)

To Guide Relations In Future Theories Are All Washington Know

By LEWIS GULICK
AP Diplomatic Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) —State Department experts question Yale Prof. Frederick C. Barghoorn today to try to unravel the mystery of why Russia — including the Soviet — jailed him on spy charges and sent a new chill through U.S.-Soviet relations.

Barghoorn, who his mother said was handcuffed and "treated like a jailbird" by Soviet police, has declared the reason for his arrest may never be known.

But at least three high-ranking officials intend to question him in hopes of hitting on a clue.

The three are Llewellyn Thompson, former U.S. ambassador to Moscow and now an adviser on East-West affairs; William R. Tyler, assistant secretary of State for European affairs; and his deputy, Richard H. Davis. Secretary of State Dean Rusk also may talk with him.

To Guide Relations

U.S. foreign policy makers want to determine how to weigh the scholar's case in conducting future relations with Russia — including the Soviet — renewal of the U.S. — Soviet cultural exchange pact.

A U.S. mission that had been due to start negotiations in Moscow today on renewing the exchange agreement is still cooling its heels in Washington while the policy makers measure the impact of the Barghoorn affair.

The mission's planned departure for Moscow was canceled after Russia announced the professor's arrest. He was released Saturday.

Still A Mystery

At a news conference after being flown to his home in New Haven, Barghoorn declined to spell out details of his arrest until he had talked with Washington officials.

Just why the Soviet picked on Barghoorn appears to be still a mystery to Washington officials. There are a number of theories.

One is that the Kremlin wanted to discourage Russians from becoming too friendly with visiting Americans, and also to dissuade Americans from hobnobbing with Soviet citizens.

Another is that Soviet security men took Barghoorn's professional inquisitiveness to be spying and had little notion of the furor his arrest would set off.

Frazier Is Third To Say Guilty in Assault, Robbery

The third person to plead guilty to participation in the alleged robbery and assault last May 8 near DeWitt Lake, when 49-year-old Russell Leroy Miller, Stone Ridge, was assaulted and robbed, was John Wesley Frazier, 37, no permanent home address. He entered a plea of guilty to third degree assault before County Judge Raymond J. Mino Monday afternoon and imposition of sentence was postponed until November 29, at 2 p. m. Charles Gaffney appeared for Frazier.

Frazier was one of four persons indicted. Gilbert Henderson is awaiting sentence under a third degree assault charge. Vickie Mae Girard, 28, of 75 Hasbrouck Avenue, was given 159 days in the county jail on a plea of guilty to assault and a fourth defendant, who stood trial, was acquitted. He was Gary Lewis.

On motion of Charles Gaffney, counsel for William Thomas Rohan, charged with endangering the life and health of a 14-year-old child, that case was moved over the term.

Arthur, Charles Roe, 20, Ellenville, was arraigned on a charge of second degree forgery, alleged to have taken place July 30, 1963. The case was adjourned to November 27 at 2 p. m.

Several other criminal cases were adjourned to future dates on motion of District Attorney David W. Corwin.

Things Change as Space Race Evens Up

Soviet Image Is Having Own Troubles in Asia These Days

View From Asia—II

EDITOR'S NOTE—AP special correspondent William L. Ryan has just completed a six-week swing through seven Asian nations. In the following dispatch, second of a series of three, he reports how Asians feel about the Soviet Union.

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

TOKYO (AP)—The Red Chinese, Asian leaders will tell you, inspire fear. Britain and Japan are respected, Americans, they say, are liked and envied but not necessarily respected. What about the Russians?

The Soviet image is having its troubles, too.

Moscow had been feared. In 1957, when its first Sputnik went up, it had, in Asian eyes, challenged what once had been considered unchallengeable—the might of the great American democracy. But as the space race drew more even, looked more like a standoff, things began to change.

Moscow Loses Face

Moscow, for all its demonstration of military power, seems to have lost face with the Asians. As the educated Asian—the one who counts in the continent's turbulent politics—seems to see it, Moscow has been stared down by the poverty-stricken, struggling Red Chinese, who in spite of all else are, themselves Asians.

The Russians, curtly told by Peking to get out of Asia, have made points in India by opposing Chinese adventures on the Indian border. But even there, if a poll was taken, it is likely the Soviet Union would rank behind the United States, Britain and Japan.

The international political war is not a popularity contest, however, but a contest for influence, and in this, too, the Russians are slipping.

Soviet Viet Nam Is Key

A key to the future of Southeast Asia is the fate of South Viet Nam, which curls like a caterpillar around the southeast corner of the continent. There a mighty contest for influence in all Southeast Asia is being battled out, and the Russians seem remote from it.

The reason: the Red Chinese are in a geographically dominant position. A regime like that of Ho Chi Minh in Communist North Viet Nam, bordering on Red China, could hardly oppose the Red Chinese will, even if it should want to.

To get at Southeast Asia, the Russians would have to overleap Red China, which is clearly asserting its pretensions to exclusive interest in the area.

The Russians appear to fear a situation which might bring about massive U.S. intervention and set the stage for World War III.

The Chinese display no such fear.

Split Has Effect

The Chinese-Soviet split—ostensibly over ideology but seemingly much more involved with national interests of both big Communist nations—is having an abrasive effect upon the Soviet image in Southeast Asia.

Among the huge overseas Chinese populations in Southeast Asia, one can easily detect a feeling of satisfaction with the turn of events and with the notion that Peking has told Moscow where to head in. The overseas Chinese, whether Communist or not in their outlook, represent a potent political factor in Malaysia, Indonesia and other areas of Southeast Asia.

Communist parties over which Moscow once held undisputed sway have been torn apart by the Moscow-Peking rift. Indonesia, with the biggest Communist party in Asia outside of China, illuminates one of the consequences.

On Shaky High Wire

The Indonesian Communist party leadership under D. N. Aidit has been trying to keep its balance on a shaky high wire over the Soviet-Peking arena. Despite a determined Soviet push into Indonesia with economic and military aid, Aidit appears to have been unable to keep his party out of the quarrel. The Chinese influence is too strong.

Despite the loud "anti-imperialist" cries of Indonesia's President Sukarno and his flirtations with the Russians and the Red Chinese, there are strong indications that he and the rest of his regime fear the Chinese. Sukarno's recent warm embraces with the Russians in Jakarta and his repeated statements that "Indonesia is not alone" may be intended as much for Chinese as for other ears.

In Malaysia, Thailand and Burma, one seldom hears the Russians mentioned as a threat. It is the Red Chinese who occupy the attention of leaders in such countries.

Today's Business Mirror

By SAM DAWSON

AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—The fairly lush flow of cash through corporate tills is one of the main reasons business executives are so confident these days.

Cash flow is different from net earnings. These profits after taxes have been setting new highs for many corporations and inspiring larger dividend payouts. But cash flow, too, has played its part—and perhaps an even more dollar and cents one—in the pleasant outpouring of extra dividend payments to stockholders in many companies.

Corporate cash flow is technically defined as retained earnings plus depreciation.

But from the company treasurer's practical point of view it is what he has left over after settling operating expenses including taxes and paying current dividends.

And the sum this year is pretty big for lots of companies. All in all, cash is flowing at better than a $41-billion rate in 1963. The year before it was $39 billion. And in 1961 it was $33 billion.

$26 Billion Profits

This year net profits after taxes is running around $26 billion.

Cash flow is often put right to work in many ways. But it also helps to build up corporate nest eggs. And another reason so many businessmen are fairly satisfied with current positions and confident of future prospects is that today corporate cash on hand and assets readily convertible into cash totals $74 billion. That could tide business, viewed as a whole, over any economic shoals for a spell.

Retained profits—what a business has left from gross earnings after paying taxes and dividends—provides only about a fifth of today's cash flow.

Depreciation Helps

More and more the actual cash is provided by depreciation. This is what can be set up on the books for the wear and tear on plant and equipment. And this year the cash flow has been helped by the federal government's relaxed rules on figuring depreciation.

Perhaps $1.5 billion of the increased depreciation allowance is due to more liberal guidelines set forth by the tax collectors. And another billion may have been added by the 7 per cent depreciation tax incentive Congress voted to encourage investment.

Cash flow would eventually be increased if Congress passes the proposed lower tax rates on corporate income. But little effect is expected next year, since the same bill calls for a speedup in tax payments, meaning that in 1964 corporations would pay out about as much cash for taxes even if rates are lower.

Comfortable in Church

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP)—An Anglican clergyman at Nelspruit, east of Johannesburg, has bravely confessed that in this country's frequent hot weather he wears shorts, instead of the more customary black pants, under his cassock.

Now the Rev. R. E. V. Taylor is encouraging members of his congregation to wear cool clothes on warm Sundays because he believes comfortable clad churchgoers can give more sincere attention to their devotions.

The Dean of Johannesburg, the Rt. Rev. P. H. F. Barron, who supports Taylor, said: "Some of my congregation come to church in sports clothes. I'd rather they came dressed like that than not come to church at all."

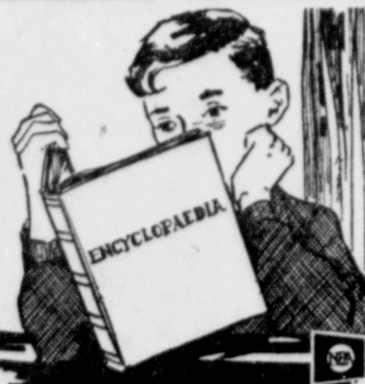

The Johannesburg Rand Daily Mail commented editorially that some churchgoers may have suspected that Taylor's practice is much more widespread than is generally acknowledged in ecclesiastical circles, but said it is rare for a cleric to admit it.

In Age of Fatalism

GLENDAL, Calif. (AP)—Modern society seems to be "more aware of the absence of God than the presence of God," says Dr. Warren B. Martin, provost of Raymond College at the University of the Pacific.

He told a Methodist audience here that it is an age when "traditional absolutes and consolations are gone" and when "truth does not make men free but only makes him furious. Man has lost confidence in man at precisely the moment in history that he has lost contact with God. The prevailing mood is one of deterministic futility."

Matter of Fact

The word encyclopaedia seems to have first been used in English by Sir Thomas Elyot. In his Latin dictionary of 1538, Elyot defines encyclopaedia as "That lernynge which comprehendeth all lyberall science and studies." The first appearance of the word in French appeared about the same time, 1533, in Babalais' "Pan-tagruel."

To Consider Blocking Canadian Bread in N.Y.

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—The 1964 Legislature will consider a bill that would block importation of Canadian bread into New York State.

Two Erie County assemblymen filed the bi-partisan measure Monday and said it would "restore equality and fair competition to the bakery industry of New York State."

The bill's sponsors, William E. Adams of Kenmore, a Republican, and Albert J. Hausbeck of Buffalo, a Democrat, said they envision the legislation as a stop-gap. A U.S. tariff is the best solution, they added.

Bakers in western and central New York have complained of made bread imported duty-free.

Canada imposes a tariff of 7½ cents a loaf on U.S. bread. Under their proposed bill, the state would ban importation of bread from any country outside the United States unless that country and the U.S. had a reciprocal tariff agreement that covered fresh bread. Canada and the U.S. have no such agreement.

In recent years, several Canadian provinces have acquired their own authentic tartans. They had to win approval from the Court of the Lord Lyon, Her Majesty's Register House in Edinburgh.

The YMCA Family night held at the "Y" Saturday night was attended by 106 dads, mothers, sisters, and brothers, Leon Van Heusen, youth director, has announced.

The boys gave a good show of tumbling and trampoline routines for the visiting families under the direction of Charles Sims, physical director. Later some of the other boys and girls had their chance on the trampoline. Many of the dads join in the father and son basketball game which the dads found the shooting eye was not as sharp at it used to be. Four or five couples played badminton on the upstairs courts. Other parents and youngsters visited the craft shop or played pool and table tennis.

The largest group was attracted to the swimming pool for a recreational swim, and to try the new diving board installed last week.

20 Hours of Discussion53 Speakers Oppose Gotham Fluoridation

NEW YORK (AP)—A hearing on the city's proposal to fluoridate its water supply ended at 6:13 a.m. today at City Hall after more than 20 hours of discussion.

Fifty-two speakers were in favor of the measure and 53 in opposition.

Wagner Opposes Referendum

Mayor Robert F. Wagner said after the hearing on the controversial proposal that the Board of Estimate will consider the matter in executive session Wednesday.

Many of those opposed to the plan complained that medical authorities were divided on the safety of injecting the city's water supply with fluoride and urged a referendum be held on the proposal.

Wagner said after the session, which began about 10 a.m. Monday, that he is opposed to a referendum. He said "if we have a referendum on everything, then we don't need a government."

One of the speakers against the proposal was Clinton R. Miller, assistant to the president of the National Health Federation, who came to the hearing from Washington. He called for a referendum on the proposal.

Miller said that where votes were taken, 9 out of 10 cities rejected fluoridating their drinking water.

Dr. Luther L. Terry, surgeon general of the United States, said the agency "urges every community to make the benefits of fluoridation available to its citizens."

Dr. James in Favor

The plan also got backing from Dr. George James, city health commissioner.

The proposal would amend the city's expense budget to appropriate about $550,000 to establish nine fluoridation plants, plus about $800,000 annually to operate and maintain them.

The hearing was before the Board of Estimate and the City Council Finance Committee headed by Councilman David Ross.

Dallas Would Avoid Repetition Of Adlai Attack

DALLAS (AP) — The Dallas City Council Monday unanimously adopted an anti harassment ordinance designed to prevent a repetition of the recent attack on Adlai Stevenson.

The U.S. ambassador to the United Nations was spat on and struck on the head with a picket sign as anti-U.N. demonstrators swarmed around him following an address.

The ordinance permits peaceful picketing but makes it unlawful to interfere with anyone entering or leaving the premises where a public or private meeting is held. A maximum fine of $200 was provided for the new ordinance.

SCHOOLS—GOOD INVESTMENT

The matter of improving our schools is one which draws nearly constant comment yet curiously generates all too little general interest.

U. S. Commissioner of Education Francis Keppel believes that to convey the urgency of our educational needs requires an extremely difficult leap of the imagination. Said he in a recent Washington conference on financing schools:

"Children are not crushed in school rooms as they are on highways. This is the difference. . . . The basic problem is that there is no real drama. Growth is only dramatic to grandparents.

"It is extraordinarily difficult to get drama into the question of school improvement when the payoff is so far away."

Keppel is truly on a sensitive point when he stresses the lag between the launching of new educational programs and the "pay-off" in better educated youngsters, equipped for more highly skilled, better paying jobs.

State after state and city after city in this country are busy enlarging their educational structures, adding schools at all levels and including many technical institutions.

Nevertheless the gains come hard—for the reason cited. An outlay of millions for a new technical school will not pay dividends in better trained workers for some years to come. To many citizens it must appear there are many more immediately practical ways to spend money.

In truth, of course, there are not. For education is the key not only to the life of the individual but to the life of the nation.

The conference Keppel and many other distinguished leaders attended in Washington had the estimable purpose of exploring exhaustively all possible means of financing the great school expansion our swelling population demands.

The sponsoring organization, the National Committee for Support of the Public Schools, is continuously devoted to that task.

Its aim is to help states, cities and school districts analyze their future and present school cost problems, to show them how the needed money can be produced, how to alter or sweep away or circumvent crippling restrictions.

The committee, composed of educators, former government officials and other public figures, believes this nation has the "financial ability to support the world's finest system of public schools."

But even when that ability is made clear, the big job remains of persuading Americans again and again that their great resources can have no more vital outlet anywhere on the home front.

Sandy Koufax's demand for $65,000 to pitch for the Dodgers shows that he can even throw fast ones at the front office.

THE UNEMPLOYED YOUNG

Secretary of Labor Wirtz got down to cases, in his address at the AFL-CIO convention, on what is potentially one of the most troublesome aspects of the unemployment problem. This is what might be called the learning gap—the gap between the training of young people and the kind of jobs they must train for.

Wirtz urged that there be "basic revision of the whole educational system" in the light of our rapidly changing technology. Without drastic change in training methods, he suggested, "an accumulating body of young Americans are not only unemployed but are not prepared, and are not going to be prepared, for the kind of jobs an invigorated economy will open up to them."

This is broad-gauge talk. "Basic revision of the whole educational system" sounds a bit like exaggeration for effect. But some changes clearly are demanded in how we train young people for productive life in a mechanistic culture. A society that cannot offer full employment to the rising generation is in for trouble.

BASIS OF CO-OPERATION

A little-publicized but significant international meeting took place recently in

'These Days'

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN
HAS SIR ALEC TURNED THE TIDE?

It begins to look as if the rise of Sir Alec Douglas-Home to the Prime Minister's office in Britain is really going to pay some unfamiliar dividends to the whole free world. The tip-off is the sudden change in the British attitude toward the South American colony of British Guiana, which is scheduled to get its freedom in the not so distant future.

Just yesterday the British were prepared to quit their tropical dependency without caring who or what took over. Premier Cheddi Jagan, a Castroite Marxist, was licking his lips in anticipation. In an election for home rule in the interim period before British departure, Jagan's party, consisting mostly of East Indians, won a majority of the seats in the local legislature. The two minority parties, Forbes Burnham's People's National Congress, a predominantly Negro grouping, and Peter d'Aguilar's United Force, led by the descendants of Portuguese immigrants, were both out in a rather dismal field as Jagan's Chicago-born Marxist wife, Janet Jagan, moved to take over the practical machinery of government, including courts and police. The British sugar interests, controlled by the so-called Booker Group, and the local officials of Barclay's Bank of London, seemed entirely unmoved when Burnham and d'Aguilar argued that their two parties, which would probably have a combined majority under proportional representation, would never get a chance to go to the polls again if the British were to leave without permitting a final election. Despite the prospects for another repressive dictatorship, the attitude of both the Conservative Party in London and the local British seemed to be that Guiana was of no importance at all, and if Jagan were to proclaim a Castroite revolution it would menace nobody who counted for anything anywhere.

That was the way things stood before Macmillan passed the reins of Conservative power in London to Lord Home, who, as Britain's Foreign Minister, had seemed oblivious to what was going on in British Guiana. But Home, as he surrendered his lord's title to become Prime Minister as Sir Alec Douglas-Home, impressed Jagan's political opponents as someone who would be open to reason in his more exalted political position. Unable to get any trustworthy indication from Cheddi Jagan that British Guiana would remain a democracy after British departure, Forbes Burnham and Peter d'Aguilar decided to take their case to Sir Alec in person.

Passing through New York City on his way to London, Peter d'Aguilar told his North American friends that, for the first time, he was hopeful that the British would not quit their colony without holding new elections under a system that would allow a majority coalition instead of a Jagan-dominated minority to rule. There were, evidently, some bitter arguments in London as Cheddi Jagan pressed his own case for freedom without an election. But, as d'Aguilar had hoped, the new government of Sir Alec Douglas-Home did turn out to be reasonable. Cutting Jagan off, the British imposed the solution which Burnham and d'Aguilar had asked for. And so, barring a successful Jagan appeal to violence, which would seem to be unlikely before the British departure, there will be another election this time, under proportional representation rules. British Guiana is not lost to Castroism yet.

This is good news for the United States, for, even though British Guiana may be a poverty-stricken piece of real estate, it does sit at the southern approaches to the Panama Canal. But the shift in the British attitude could actually be more important for its symbolism than for anything else.

What it seems to show is that the new British Prime Minister is willing to stop the long retreat that has let Marxism of one type or another win easy victories in underdeveloped countries as the colonial era comes to a close. So hurrah for Sir Alec Douglas-Home. Could it be that, by a small decision, he has commenced the moral rejuvenation of the West?

The Causes of Nosebleed
And Ways to Stop It
BY WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Q—I have a slight nosebleed at least once a day. I have been operated on for it but it still continues. What would cause this? Is there a cure?

A—Recurrent or persistent nosebleeds are common and may be due to several causes, like the removal of hard crusts that form in the nose. You can prevent the condition by using a little petroleum jelly or mineral oil on the mucous surfaces.

Persons with high blood pressure are especially prone to nosebleeds. If this is the cause, the high blood pressure should be treated. Women sometimes have nosebleeds at monthly intervals in place of regular menstrual periods. The reason for this is not known.

A simple and effective way to stop the nosebleed is to apply an ordinary spring-type clothes pin, the ends of which have been padded with gauze or rubber. Those who have tried it find it much less uncomfortable than using a gauze packing inside the nose. It should be kept in place for 10 minutes after there is no more blood in the throat.

Anyone who has frequent nosebleeds should be checked for chronic anemia.

A—Have been treated for a peptic ulcer for about a year. The X-ray shows that the ulcer is healed but still I have my symptoms. Can an ulcer be cured after it becomes chronic?

A—With any of a number of methods of treatment most ulcers heal within eight or 10 weeks. If the stresses that caused the ulcer are not eliminated the ulcer may come back but even the most chronic ulcer can usually be cured with proper treatment and appropriate control measures should help to prevent recurrence.

Since the X-rays showed that your ulcer did heal, it is important to have your doctor determine whether your present symptoms are due to a new ulcer or to some other cause. Several conditions can cause the symptoms commonly associated with ulcers.

Please send your questions and comments to Dr. Wayne G. Brandstadt, M.D., in care of this paper. While Dr. Brandstadt cannot answer individual letters, he will answer letters of general interest in future columns.

This was the Space Radiocommunication Conference, convened by the International Telecommunication Union and attended by 400 delegates from 70 member countries in the ITU.

During the course of the five-week meeting, the delegates allocated some 50 radio frequency bands for various kinds of space activities — from frequencies for weather, navigation and communication satellites, plus those reserved for radio astronomers, to a frequency to be used by space vehicles in distress.

The problems tackled by the 400 delegates were extremely technical, but a spirit of co-operation and harmony prevailed throughout the deliberations.

Washington News

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — From a religious point of view, one of the most interesting aspects of the change in governments in South Viet Nam is that Catholic U. S. President John F. Kennedy could do nothing to prevent the assassination of Vietnamese Catholic President Ngo Dinh Diem.

The American government tried hard to support the Diem government in its war on communism. But Diem's sanctioned harassment of Vietnamese Buddhists made the downfall of his regime inevitable.

The revolt was led by Buddhist General Duong Van Minh. And the new provisional president named to take over in Viet Nam is a Buddhist civil servant, Nguyen Ngoc Tho.

The incidental fact that all this happened in the same week that President Kennedy received the New York City Protestant Council's 1963 distinguished service award "for promoting human rights and democratic freedoms" indicates that prejudice is under attack everywhere. Tolerance may be on the march throughout the world, more than is realized.

MUCH EMPHASIS HAS been placed in the West on the role the Buddhists played in the Vietnamese revolt. This has been presented as a new political phenomenon and as a revolution in religious thought.

Buddhists have traditionally been represented as docile, unworldly people, interested primarily in their prayers and with no interest in politics or government.

Buddhist scholars point out, however, that this is not true.

Buddhism is today the dominant religion of 20 countries in South and East Asia from Korea to India, from Ceylon to Indonesia and back to Japan. The population of this vast area is over 1.7 billion, including Red China.

How many of them are practicing Buddhists, no one knows. Perhaps 500 million as a minimum, a billion as a maximum.

The significance of this may be indicated by the State Department's recent appointment of an officer in charge of Buddhist affairs. He is Dr. Richard Gard, a young Foreign Service officer, an author of a book on Buddhism who has had duty in many of the Buddhist countries. His fascinating job is to watch and advise on developments in the Buddhist world.

Do You Remember by Sophie Miller

The Ulster County Historical Society puts out a very interesting bulletin called "Ulster County Gazette" with a heading from the famous Jan. 4 1800 Samuel Freer and Son copy of the same name. There are always interesting short historical articles by members. In the Oct. 1963, one is called "Silver Bullet Affair" by Frederick P. Todd which I have not read yet, but is about secret agents and full of suspense and a surprise ending, all taken from real life. Will tell about it in a future column.

John P. Remensnyder's article is called "Life Had a Hollow Boom." Those were the days before the Revolution when each farmstead tried to be independent and self-sufficient. They had to depend on themselves for heat, water and food. Their basic diet for the family and some of their farm animals was grain cereals such as corn, wheat, rye and oats and they needed a safe place for storage. Mr. Remensnyder tells about a granary often being on the upper floor or attic of the one-half story houses of those days. A granary door was built right into the gable end of the house and the bags of grain were hoisted up the outside and swung into the granary room.

Mr. Remensnyder further writes that an excellent example of such an early granary door survives at the Matthew Ten Eyck house at Mountain Road in Hurley, now owned by Mr. and Mrs. Henry Paul Jr. Mrs. Paul is the former Barbara Graves, sister of Robert Graves, principal of the Fort Ewen school. She told me about her historic house and I promised I would come to visit and see it, as I knew Barbara when she lived in Port Ewen.

Bishops Deal With Topic About U.S. Secularism

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON—A remarkably significant pronouncement has just been issued by the Catholic bishops of the United States. Unlike the annual statements of this group in other years, it doesn't emphasize its own sectarian beliefs, but embraces instead the objective of many religions as it reminds the American people of Abraham Lincoln's phrase — "This nation under God."

The Catholic bishops in their statement deal with the most delicate questions in the relationship of Church and State in implicit rather than explicit terms, thus leaving it to observers to apply the expressed principles either to the Supreme Court's decisions on prayer in the schools or to the limitations on government aid to private schools that happen to be founded by religious groups or to many other issues before the Congress of the U. S. today.

There was no lack of explicitness, however, as the bishops advocated equal rights and opportunities in the community for citizens of every race or color without discrimination or unfairness. This was also specifically proclaimed in a similar statement by the Catholic bishops 20 years ago.

An intimation that perhaps the Supreme Court in the past has been more tolerant of religious expression in public institutions than it is today may be derived from the following excerpt of the bishops' statement:

"The recognition of the right of conscience has been basic to our civil traditions. Citizens have found in this bond of union and the favor of the law in countless cases. No personal right has been so fiercely defended by public authority and so generously construed in court. The tradition of our nation corresponds with the words of Pope John XXIII, 'every human being has the right to honor God according to the dictates of an upright conscience and, therefore, the right to worship God privately and publicly.'"

"A further bond of union has been the general recognition of religious homage to God as a duty as well as a right."

It is possible, therefore, to conclude that the Supreme Court's recent decisions in the school-prayer cases were in the bishops' mind as they wrote:

"The increasing establishment of secularism as an official American view of life has been steady and well marked. In our education, religious elements have gradually been eliminated by judicial interpretation. This progressive secularization cuts deeply into our schools, but this is only part of its steady growth. . . .

"There is, it is true, a statistical growth in church affiliation, but this is substantially offset by the disturbing alienation of whole areas — education, work, play — from any effective tie with the Creator and Judge of men and nations."

In one paragraph, the bishops suggested as "urgent questions" the following:

"Are we coming to regard God and religion as irrelevant to everyday life? Have our relative richness and our passion for technological progress stifled our concern for the spiritual needs of man? Are we trying to solve problems of social justice by expediency, with an eye to human convenience rather than the divine will?"

Perhaps the passage in the bishops' statement that will produce much discussion for a long time to come is that in which the American judicial system is scrutinized. The bishops said:

"Strongly operative among us is the aspiration to establish justice. The courts must maintain vigilance against procedures which offend this cardinal virtue of the decent society."

"But the people must be vigilant, too, lest the courts, however unconsciously and with whatever lofty intent, annul the original determination that ours be a government of laws, not of men."

"Our courts must see that the law of the land is so interpreted as to be free from undue influence of particular schools of thought. It has best served the American tradition when the law reflects a community consensus or a common understanding of what is best to achieve the commands of justice."

Does this mean that the frequently mentioned "radical" or "conservative" philosophies attributed to individual justices are being criticized? Does it imply support for the oft-repeated argument that the courts must "follow the election returns" and that the judges must be swayed by contemporaneous emotions? Does it support the theory that the high court should, like a national legislature, be guided by public opinion, rather than be bound by the literal phrases of the Constitution itself?

Eminent members of the bar as well as famous judges in the past have held that the American people should be governed by a written constitution and that it must not be circumvented or superseded or amended by judicial decision under the guise of an "interpretation" which seeks to embody the political consensus of the moment.

Whether or not one agrees with all the points made by the Catholic bishops' statement, it is well worth careful reading by persons of all denominations.

Building Sites to Be CR Battle Areas Is Threat

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Construction sites in New York State will be battlegrounds for more racial demonstrations if the building industry "refuses to change its hiring practices," a civil rights leader says.

Herbert Hill, national labor secretary for the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, issued that warning Monday at the 68th annual convention of the Building Industry Employers Association of New York State.

Hill's blistering attack on the industry touched off an exchange that brought several contractors to their feet in anger.

"Your industry has cheated the Negro ... out of jobs and wages," Hill charged. "Your industry has hidden behind unions in saying that they are guilty when not having Negroes employed."

Several delegates, including H. Earl Fullilove, chairman of the Building Trade Employers Association, challenged Hill's assertions.

Fullilove called Hill's talk "a disgrace."

"We're not going to lower our standards just to accommodate you," Fullilove said.

Fullilove denied there was discrimination in the industry. He said that of 3,000 Negroes who applied for apprenticeship in the industry in New York City and were invited to be interviewed, more than 700 "didn't even show up."

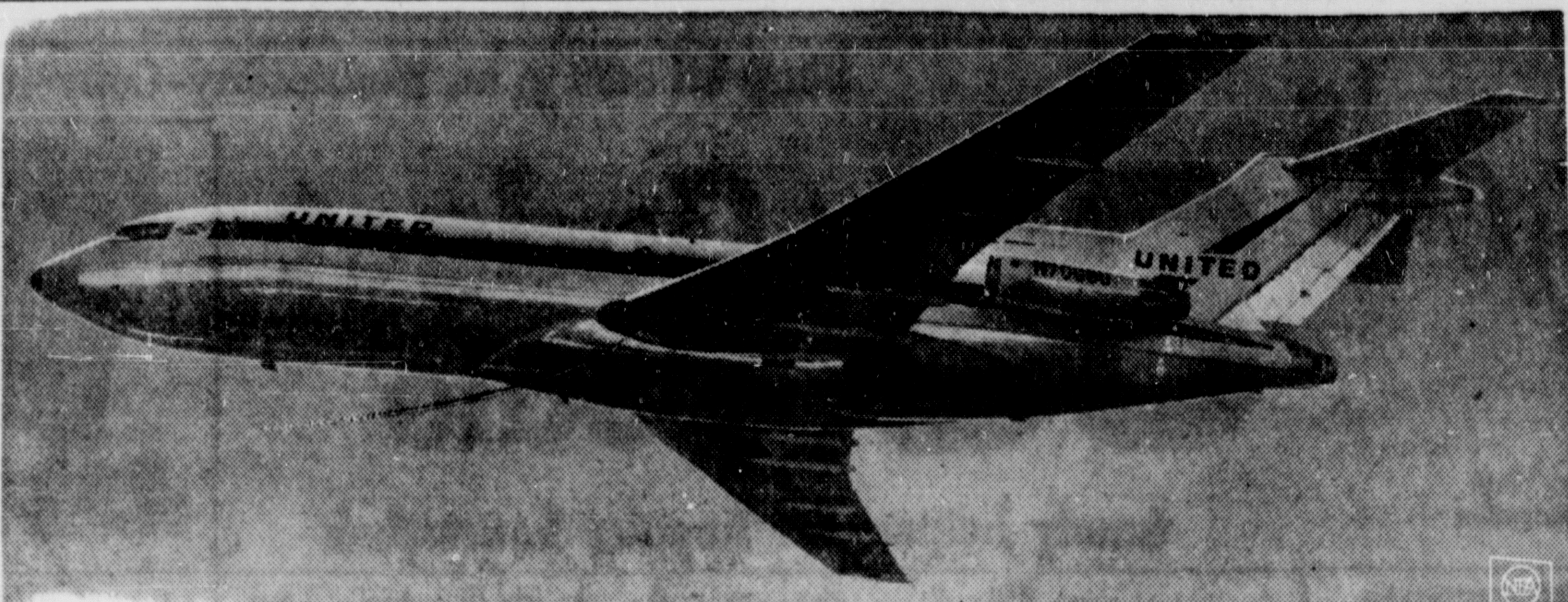

And, he said, only about 700 of those who were interviewed possessed the necessary qualifications.

"This is a sham and a fakery to justify exclusion," Hill replied.

But Peter W. Eller, chairman of the group's advisory board, denounced what he called Hill's "tuculence and belligerence."

"A couple more speeches like that," Eller said, "and brother, they just lost everything."

DOUBLE S & H GREEN STAMPS WEDNESDAY

Today in History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Tuesday, Nov. 19, the 323rd day of 1963. There are 42 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1869, the powerful Canadian fur-trading concern—The Hudson's Bay Co.—transferred to the British government its land rights in the Northwest territories.

On this date: In 1794, the United States and Britain signed the Jay Treaty relating to trade boundaries and commerce.

In 1863, President Abraham Lincoln delivered his historic Gettysburg address.

In 1917, President Woodrow Wilson issued a proclamation requiring the registration of all enemy aliens in the United States.

In 1941, British forces launched a surprise offensive in Libya during World War II.

In 1944, U.S. warships bombarded Japanese-held Iwo Jima during World War II.

Ten years ago... The United States again asked Canada to allow Senate espionage investigators to question Igor Gouzenko, formerly a code clerk in the Russian embassy in Canada.

Five years ago... Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjöld announced his decision to liquidate the United Nations observer group in Lebanon.

One year ago... West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer's coalition government broke up when the Free Democratic party withdrew its five members from his Cabinet.

May Build for Antiques

State Senator Ernest I. Hatfield (R) reports that consideration is being given for construction of a permanent building at the Dutchess County fair grounds, Rhinebeck, to house a collection of agricultural antiques. Senator Hatfield, public relations director for the fair, said if the building is constructed it would replace a fair building swept by fire several years ago.

Widow Dies Hours After Mate's Rites

UTICA, N.Y. (AP) — Only a few hours after the funeral of her husband — a veteran Utica newspaperman — Mrs. M. Joseph Hahn died in her home. Mrs. Hahn became ill shortly before the funeral Monday. Hahn died Thursday in St. Elizabeth's Hospital at the age of 73. He had been a reporter and columnist with the Utica newspapers for 51 years.

The National Geographic Society chose Amelia Earhart as the first woman to receive its Special Gold Medal, for being the first woman to make a solo trans-Atlantic air crossing. President Hoover presented her the medal.

Blame Broken Coupling

HOOSICK FALLS, N.Y. (AP) — State Police say a coupling that broke as brakes were applied has been blamed for a Boston & Maine freight-train derailment. Thirty-nine cars and two diesel units left the tracks outside this village near the Vermont state line Sunday night. They were part of a 137-car train westbound from Boston to Mechanicville. No one was hurt. Troopers said the engineer applied the brakes to slow down for a restricted speed zone. The railroad said it hoped to reopen the tracks today.

Approximately 60 per cent of U. S. hotel and motel rooms are air conditioned.

Patrols Planned To Handle Pickets To Upstate Firm

HORSEHEADS, N.Y. (AP) — Firemen planned to be at the Police, sheriff's deputies and strike-bound Westinghouse Electric Corp. plant today in case picket-line violence resumed. Eggs, tomatoes and mud were hurled as pickets of Local 1833, International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers (IBEW), tried Monday to keep salaried and technical employees from entering the plant. Several minor injuries were reported. Philip C. Learned of Elmira, attorney for the 900-member union, said pickets had been instructed to report back to the plant again today. Learned's plea to the approximately 400 pickets to refrain from violence quieted Monday's demonstrations after automobiles had been rocked and the radio antenna of one was snapped off. Five incoming workers reportedly managed to get inside the building. An IBEW spokesman said the demonstrations were touched off by reports that salaried and technical workers were performing production jobs normally done by union workers. The union struck Nov. 1 when contract negotiations broke down. The key dispute in the talks was the application of company-wide job seniority at the Westinghouse plant here. The company favored continuation of the system and the union opposed it. Picketing had taken place without incident before Monday's eruption.

Insurance Director Dies

GLENS FALLS, N.Y. (AP) — Robert C. Carter, a director and former secretary-treasurer of the Glens Falls Insurance Co., died Monday at his home here. He was 89. Carter started as an office boy with the insurance firm in 1889. He was a native of Lafayette, Ind. Survivors include a son, Robert C. Carter Jr., and a daughter, Mrs. Eleanor C. McDowell, both of Glens Falls.

Trade-Aid Drive Started Decade Ago

Russian Offensive to Build Communist Camp Disappointing

By STERLING F. GREEN

AP Economics Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Russian trade-and-aid offensive, launched a decade ago to try to sweep new and neutral nations into the Communist camp, is a growing disappointment to the Kremlin.

Even in Moscow confidence has dimmed, American government analysts report, that the emerging countries of Africa and Asia soon will reject capitalism in a great "national-liberation movement."

And comparisons of 1962 trade data now available confirm that Russia remains a puny commercial rival of the United States in all but a few limited areas of the non-Communist world.

Most in Captive Market

Two-thirds of Russia's trade continues to be with its captive market, the Communist block in Europe, but its goal of "burying" the United States as the foremost trading nation depends on the penetration of the vast and swiftly growing Western markets and the developing nations.

Russian progress has been substantial, considering that the Soviets started virtually from scratch. But Washington's concern is less with the trade volume — as an entire bloc the Communist group generates only 5 per cent of world commerce — than with the political and propaganda impact of the Soviet economic warfare.

Officials suspect that Russia gets more political mileage per ruble of foreign aid than the United States gets per dollar. Soviet aid programs are inexpensive, shrewdly aimed at the West's worst trouble spots, designed for maximum pay-off in political or military advantage and magnified by adroit propaganda techniques.

Hopes Faltering

But analysts who advise the State Department and Congress now note rising skepticism toward the Marxist promise even in the under-developed lands where Russia has poured out Rubles and promises.

U.S. expert, Leon Herman, Soviet economic analyst for the Library of Congress, told an interviewer that Russian leaders "realize matters are less promising than they had hoped," but have not altered their plans or diminished their efforts.

"They feel they can create hostility for the developed countries among the underdeveloped — can convince them that they are the victims of capitalist exploitation," Herman explained. Russia showed a 19 per cent gain in 1962 in trade with non-Communist countries. That was twice the U.S. percentage rise, but percentages are deceptive. The actual Soviet increase was $650 million, with imports up $200 million. The U.S. gain to the same areas was $3 billion; imports rose by $1.7 billion.

8 Times Greater for U. S.

That meant that the United States, which already provided a market eight times greater than Russia's for the goods and raw materials of the non-Communist world, enlarged that market by an amount eight times greater than the Russian increase.

Premier Khrushchev told to an American editor in 1957: "We declare war upon you... in the peaceful field of trade. We declare war. We will win... we are relentless in this and it will prove the superiority of our system."

The neutrals seem less and less impressed with Khrushchev's predictions. Three young African states which flirted seriously with communism — Ghana, Guinea and Mali — have pulled back despite Russia's intensive wooing with financial and military aid and small armies of technicians.

Expert Reports

The United Arab Republic, which seemed likely to spin into the Soviet orbit after the Suez crisis seven years ago, is spinning out again. Iraq has joined the list of Arab disappointments to Moscow.

India, Asian leader of the neutrials, has turned its eyes Westward and acknowledged closer rapport with the democracies. One U.S. expert, after reciting the list, remarked to a reporter:

"Except for the one maniac in Cuba, they are not taking the Russian bait."

But officials point out that Russia has established firm influence in the economies of India, the UAR, Cuba, Afghanistan and Indonesia. Together these five get two-thirds of all Soviet foreign aid.

And the analysts note that Russia's aid program — consisting almost entirely of long-term, low-interest loans whose annual cost is a mere fraction of the U.S. aid total — serves its purpose when it merely creates friction between the West and the neutrals, or makes the latter more demanding, or pries open the door to an influx of Soviet technicians.

Smaller Liquor Agency Proposed By Probe Leader

NEW YORK (AP)—A liquor control agency with "powers centered in one man" and smaller than the five-member State Liquor Authority (SLA) has been suggested by Lawrence E. Walsh, chairman of the state commission surveying the state liquor laws.

Walsh says the SLA's division of powers among its members "may not be the most efficient way to do it."

Walsh, a former federal judge, made the proposal in a recorded interview Sunday night on the WINS "News Conference" radio program.

Walsh said it is possible that the commission he heads will recommend a more centrally administered liquor agency when it reports to Gov. Rockefeller and the Legislature next month.

Rockefeller appointed the commission after the revelation last year of alleged graft and corruption in SLA operations.

Seen Through Window

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP)—Patrolman Ernest Pepe wondered why some boys were peering through the display window of Shiffrin's Market Sunday night, so he took a look.

He saw a squirming man dangling from a ceiling ventilator shaft.

Police extricated Graddie Thompson, 20, and charged him with breaking and entering and theft. He was held on $5,000 bond.

Thompson, 35, a St. Paul attorney, is accused of instigating the bludgeon - stabbing death last March 6 of his wife, Carol, 34. He is charged with first degree murder.

The state charges Thompson arranged with Norman Mastrian, a former boxer, to find a killer. Prosecutor William Randall claims the motives were $1 million insurance on Mrs. Thompson's life and Thompson's love for another woman.

Pa. GOP Aiming For Redistricting Vote Wednesday

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP)—Determined Senate Republicans are aiming for a final vote Wednesday on their controversial reapportionment plan, despite continued Democratic pleas for public hearings.

Majority Leader James S. Berger, R-Potter, indicated Monday he hopes to have intra-party differences on the bill settled by then.

The GOP-proposed redistricting plan passed second reading in the Senate Monday, setting the stage for amendments and final argument.

The Senate planned to meet at 9 a.m. today and adjourn early so that those who wished could attend the 300th anniversary ceremonies of the Gettysburg Address.

Meanwhile, the House gave the first of three required readings to its reapportionment proposal after the elections and reapportionment committee sent the measure to the floor.

The House, reconvening at 1 p.m., planned to return the bill to committee today for amendments, then have it reported for second reading. This would place the measure in position for a final vote Monday.

Senate's Name at StakeCase Urges Full Probe of Baker

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Clifford P. Case urged the Senate Rules Committee today to "let the chips fall where they may" in its investigation of Robert G. Baker's wheeling and dealing.

The New Jersey Republican said public confidence in the integrity of Congress may hit a new low as a result of Baker's resignation under fire as secretary to Senate Democratic majority and subsequent developments which Case said reflect on Congress as an institution.

Follow All Aspects

"The good name of the Senate is at stake," Case said in a prepared Senate speech in which he called on the committee to follow up all aspects of the case "no matter where they lead."

Case's urging for a complete investigation came a day after Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana disclosed that Senate employees who received their jobs through the Democratic majority now are required to list their assets and sources of income.

The regulation does not apply to senators. But Mansfield said he personally would favor such a disclosure by senators.

Case reported that the Rules Committee had rejected his suggestion to expand the Baker probe to include legislation that would require members of Congress, top federal officials and high-level staff personnel in both the executive and legislative branches to make public their sources of income.

Baker resigned his Senate job last month after it was alleged in a civil suit that he used his position to help a vending machine firm get contracts with firms doing defense work for the government.

Since then there has been a raft of disclosures and whispers about Baker's tangled affairs, including dealings in real estate and stocks.

The investigation is potentially explosive due to the possibility his alleged conflict of interest may involve senators or others in government.

Locke Estate Is Out for Divorced Wife, Tucker Says

Lela Ann Locke, divorced wife of the late Harvey Carlton Locke of Town of Rochester who died April 1, 1962, leaving an estate of over $1,600,000, may not participate in the estate according to a decision of Surrogate Francis X. Tucker.

In a decision handed down Tuesday, Surrogate Tucker finds that "there is in full force and effect a valid and final decree of divorce granted on June 24, 1953 in the Circuit Court of the State of Florida in and for Hillsborough County, Fla., and therefore, the notice of election filed by Lela Ann Locke is dismissed."

Following the death of Mr. Locke, who had resided at Samsenville for many years, his former wife, Lela Ann Locke of Olney, Ill., appeared by Manuel Dittenheimer and filed a notice of election asserting that she was his legal wife and should participate in the distribution of his estate.

Hearings Held

That matter was brought out before Surrogate Tucker and several hearings held. N. LeVan Haver appeared for Philip Korn of Kerhonkson, who drew the Locke will and was named executor and one of the beneficiaries. Vincent G. Connelly appeared for a daughter, Kathleen Lulu Dorothy Locke, and Manuel Dittenheimer with John Bonomi of counsel appeared for Lela Ann Locke. Haver also appeared for Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Brown and Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Shurtner, beneficiaries.

Following the presentation of the will for probate, Lela Ann Locke who had married the deceased on November 10, 1950 in New York City, filed a rite of election under Section 18 of the Decedent Estate Law, which gives a spouse right of election to take his or her share of an estate. She alleged she was the legal widow of deceased. Surrogate Tucker holds that the 1953 divorce in Florida is a legal and binding severance of that marriage. Locke had been twice before married.

Lela Ann Locke in her answer to the objections and alleged that the divorce in Florida was obtained by fraud in that Harvey Carlton Locke was not a bona fide resident of Florida, and, thus the court lacked jurisdiction. She further alleged that she was induced and compelled to enter into a property settlement agreement on May 13, 1953 by fraud, duress and coercion.

No Fraud Evidence

Surrogate Tucker holds that, after examination of witnesses and documents there is no evidence of fraud, duress or coercion. Under the agreement she received counsel fees and monthly payments of $300, continuing to May 1964.

Under the will of Mr. Locke, who acquired a fortune when he disposed of a photography business and took stock in Eastman Kodak, he disposed of certain sports cars and a bequest of $300 to Pauline Gay Douds; gave $1,000 to the Samsenville Methodist Church and then devised the bulk of his estate under the residuary clause as follows: 10 per cent to Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Shurtner, 45 per cent to Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Brown, neighbors, and 45 per cent to Attorney Philip Korn of Kerhonkson, whom he appointed executor.

Chamber Appeals For Support of Yule Lighting

NEW PALTZ—The president of the New Paltz Chamber of Commerce, Walter Offerman, has asked the merchants of New Paltz who are not chamber members to donate toward their share of the Christmas lighting fund. He reported that the cost of lighting yearly is better than $800.

Mr. Offerman said that the chamber membership fees for the past four years, has carried most of the burden. In this time, except for a generous and community-minded merchant, total donations from non-members has totaled only $67.

He said that, possibly many merchants do not realize how costly the lighting is and how much it benefits all the merchants, not just chamber members.

Mr. Offerman reported the chamber has $3,500 invested in Christmas lights and equipment, and that maintenance and stringing of the lights are very costly.

Mr. Offerman has expressed thanks to the village which annually waives the income from parking meters for 10 days at Christmas in cooperation with the chamber. Also the village allows chamber members use of the village trucks to put up Christmas lights. He also issued thanks for the cooperation of the local police in directing traffic. He pointed out that the Christmas printed bags which are used to cover the parking meters are purchased with chamber funds.

Scranton's planned appeal to Goldwater was to discourage delegate candidates who might upset the slate being pieced together to support the governor in his favorite son operation.

This deadline would come two weeks before the March 10 New Hampshire primary in which Goldwater's friends expect him to be pitted against New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller.

Woman Given Five Years, Charged In Bludgeoning

LINDSAY, Ont. (AP)—Helen Deyell, 34, was sent to a penitentiary Monday for five years for bludgeoning an elderly shoe-maker to death with a wrecking bar.

Harold Bate, 70, died last May 20, two days after he was attacked while talking on the telephone to a daughter, Mrs. William Orr, in Lockport, N.Y.

Mrs. Deyell pleaded guilty last Friday to manslaughter. The charge was reduced from one of murder.

Justice D. L. Haines of the Ontario Supreme Court described the crime as one without motive, largely due to alcoholism.

He said that Mrs. Deyell's term would start May 21—the day she was arrested—and that he would recommend she be paroled when she conquers her drinking problem.

Storage Space Is At Premium for Booze in Alabama

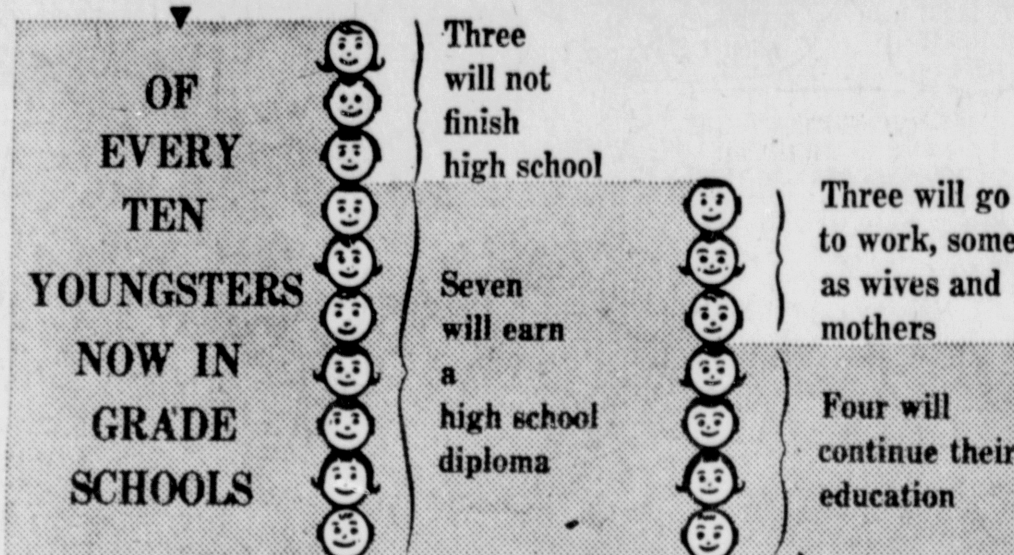

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP)—If there's one thing Alabama has plenty of, it's wine and whisky — so much, in fact, that storage space is at a premium.

The state is on such a liquor-buying binge that, if it were to keep up the pace for a year, it would shell out some $50 million for booze alone. The tab last year was about $33 million.

Nobody's around right now to explain officially just why the state has spent $2,450,000 for beverages since Oct. 29. Top Alcoholic Beverage Control officials are in Honolulu at a convention, and their cohorts in Montgomery decline comment.

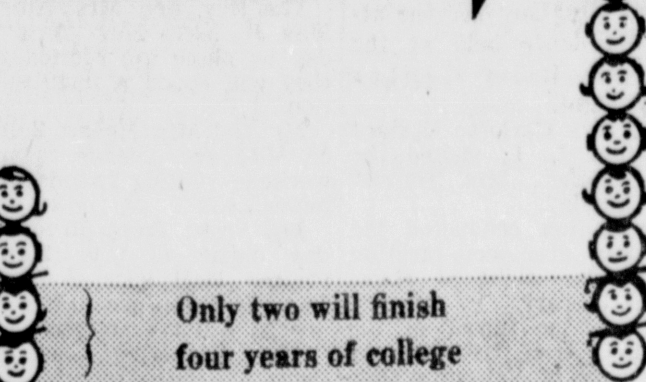

A new 3 per cent tax is scheduled to go into effect on liquor and wine firms Jan. 1, and a number of those firms have promised they will quit doing business in Alabama rather than pay it.

Can't Produce Dog For Va. Execution

ROANOKE, Va. (AP)—Ricky, the German shepherd whose death sentence for sheep killing has been appealed all the way to the U.S. Supreme Court, no longer belongs to Jim Laing of Pearisburg, Va.

Papers filed Monday by Laing's attorney said "Laing does not own the dog anymore and therefore cannot produce it" for execution.

Laing is appealing a $1,000 fine and four-month jail sentence for failure to produce the dog to be killed. Records of Giles County Circuit Court revealed Monday that Ricky is the property of Harold Williams of Pembroke.

Ricky was convicted of killing a sheep but Laing has maintained that Ricky was only standing guard over the dead animal as he had been trained to do.

Faces Test Over False Report on Alabama Bombing

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP)—A Negro has been ordered to undergo psychiatric examinations after pleading guilty to charges of falsely telling federal investigators that Birmingham police bombed a Negro leader's home.

U.S. Dist. Judge Clarence W. Allgood said Monday he would pass sentence on Roosevelt Tatum, 39, after receiving the examination.

Tatum told FBI agents that two Birmingham police officers set off a dynamite bomb last May 11 which wrecked the home of the Rev. A. D. King, brother of Negro leader Martin Luther King Jr.

That blast and another a few minutes later at a Negro motel touched off a night of rioting by Negroes.

Bares Two Plans To Funnel Users Of Orange Port

NEW YORK (AP)—The New York Herald Tribune says the State Office of Transportation has proposed two ways—one a rapid transit railway—to move passengers from a proposed jet airport in Orange County to New York City.

The newspaper said Monday night that Gov. Rockefeller was "quietly building a case" to prove that the Orange County site at Pine Island is closer to New York than is generally believed.

One proposal reportedly made to the Port of New York Authority by the transportation office is the rapid transit link from Pennsylvania station to Suffern, then view a new tunnel through the Ramapo Mountains to Pine Island.

Another proposal, "The Herald Tribune said, is a 15-mile connecting road to funnel traffic from the proposed jetport into existing highway networks.

The Port Authority is studying possible sites for the airport, which would be the fourth jet landing field in the New York area.

Also under consideration has been a site in Burlington County in southern New Jersey.

Asks Public Report

NEW YORK (AP)—The city says disclosure of a secret city report might impede an inquiry into milk pricing policies.

Robert B. Blaikie, an insurgent Democrat, has asked the State Supreme Court Monday to order the city to make the report public. He says he wants a copy to support his pending court action.

Blaikie has asked for a court injunction to restrain the city's milk industry from allegedly fixing prices.

Former City Investigations Commissioner Louis K. Kaplan had told newsmen that his agency had drawn up a report alleging that milk companies rigged profit structure and were overcharging consumers here by $150 million a year.

McNamara Has Tougher Tone

Questions Soviet Judgment
For Shows Like RoadblocksBy JAMES MARLOW
AP News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Kennedy administration has expressed serious doubt about the Russian leaders' good judgment in testing the nerve of the West, particularly that of the United States.

Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara put it this way in a talk Monday night: "I do not regard the present Communist leaders as wholly reckless in action."

"But recent experience, in Cuba and, on a lesser scale, in Berlin, has not persuaded me that I can predict with confidence the sorts of challenge that Communist leaders will come to think prudent and profitable."

Unusually Tough Tone

In addition, this McNamara talk before the Economic Club of New York had an unusually tough tone for the Kennedy administration which has tried to avoid sabre-rattling.

The secretary compared American and Russian military power and flatly claimed nuclear superiority for the United States. He said the Communists have sought to avoid a big war with the West.

This doesn't mean they won't try smaller challenges if they think they can get away with them. What if they try them, as they did in Cuba and at Berlin?

McNamara gave them a warning: The best way to stop them from the smaller adventures if to assure them such sort-of-all-out-war tries would meet "prompt, effective military" response.

In short: Stop them cold and let them decide to back off or keep pushing into the big war they want to avoid. Much of McNamara's talk was devoted to American nuclear superiority, for example: "The Soviets are estimated to have today only a fraction as many intercontinental missiles as we do." But he acknowledged the Russians are a big threat to Europe, with their hundreds of intermediate and medium-range ballistic missiles.

Sudden, Ugly Show

The Russians recently acted up, creating tensions in Europe and here, when they blockaded American troop trucks on the autobahn in East Germany before letting them through to Berlin.

This was a sudden and ugly show of Soviet force after what had seemed slightly improved American-Russian relations.

The Kennedy administration may have intended the McNamara talk to be a reminder to the Russians not to get too nutty — as they were in Cuba and seem to have been on the autobahn — or to push too hard.

At no place in his talk, however, did McNamara suggest that war with Russia would be a one-way street, with the So-

Plattsburgh Plant
To Have 500 on AF Job

PLATTSBURGH, N.Y. (AP)—General Dynamics Corp. says it will employ up to 500 persons on an Air Force contract for modification of 12 Atlas "F" missile sites in this northern New York area.

Ray T. Blair, manager of community relations for the astronautics division of General Dynamics, said Monday that $4 to $6 million would be spent on goods and services related to the project.

The program calls for completion of the project by the end of 1964.

Blair said improvements would be made in the missiles themselves, and in testing and launching equipment.

General Dynamics built and installed the original missiles and equipment.

TROY, N.Y. (AP)—Raymond B. Madden of Troy, an assistant state attorney general since 1949, died unexpectedly yesterday in a hospital here.

Madden served as a lieutenant commander in the U.S. Navy during World War II. After release from active duty, he became chief attorney

In 1947, Madden, a Republican, was appointed chief assistant counsel to the director of the New York State Veterans Bonus Bureau. He held that post until named to the attorney general's staff.

Plan Is Opposed
That Farmers Pay
For Hauling Milk

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP)—One of the nation's largest dairy cooperatives — which opposes a federal plan to make farmers pay for hauling their milk in bulk from farm to plant — says it will not impose such a charge or sell milk to anyone who does.

The Dairymen's League took that stand Monday and urged other dairy cooperatives to join the move.

The League, which claims 17,000 members, is the largest dairy cooperative in the New York-New Jersey milkshed.

Glenn Talbot, league president, voiced confidence that his group's opposition would make a "paper dragon" out of an amendment the U.S. Agriculture Department has proposed for the New York-New Jersey milk-marketing order.

The New York-New Jersey milkshed supplies the metropolitan New York City market.

The marketing-order amendment — on which farmers are voting this month — would permit handlers to levy a hauling charge of up to 10 cents for each hundredweight (46.5 quarts) of milk collected from farmers' bulk tanks.

Presently, the milk is priced at the farm and the handler pays for the hauling.

Value of Sunken Tug
Estimated at $125,000

PLATTSBURGH, N.Y. (AP)—State Police say a towing company estimates at $125,000 the loss of a tug that hit a reef and sank in Lake Champlain.

Eight men jumped to safety from the tug and reached Port Kent after being towed on a barge the tug had been pushing.

A passing boat owned by the Donna Paper Co. of Montreal towed the barge and its load of men to Port Kent.

The accident occurred late Sunday night near Schuyler Island, on the New York State side of the lake.

The barge had carried gasoline from New York City to Plattsburgh and the tug was taking it back to New York.

Troopers said the loss estimate was made Monday by a representative of the company.

A Real Tooth-Cracking Meal

As appetizing and attractive as the hearty breakfast looks above, a person would really have rocks in his head if he ate it. For all the "food" on the table is of different stones which have been cut and polished by Jack Stoops of Hobbs, N.M. The well-done meal was displayed at a recent flower show. Ronny Lynch and his little sister, Debra, are fascinated by the realism of an egg, two strips of bacon, a bun, two pats of butter, an apple, a carrot and a hand/ul of plums. Closeups of egg and bun at right give a better idea of just how lifelike this rock hound's breakfast is.

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Some of the biggest exhibits at next year's New York World's Fair will bear the imprint, made in California.

In Burbank, Disney craftsmen are working on everything from prehistoric monsters to an automated Abe Lincoln to space craft to be used in four major exhibitions. In a factory building in Mar Vista near the ocean, Cinerama is giving shape to "American Journey" highlight of the U.S. pavilion show.

I drove out to the Cinerama plant to see how the project was coming along. Said Jeremy Lepard, head of the exhibit: "We are doing all right, even though we started only three months ago. We should have started a year and three months ago, but agencies of the government are loath to make commitments for money they don't have."

The Department of Commerce finally came through in June with a $2.25 million budget, which includes operation of the exhibit for the two six-month runs of the fair in 1964-65. This made Lepard keep an eye on both the outlay and the calendar, but he appears to be beating both.

He explained that "American Journey" will occupy the second floor of the pavilion, a stark, modern design, by Charles Luckman shaped like a "squared doughnut."

Thirty movie projectors and 100 slide projectors will create the illusion of travel through time and space. This has taken much ingenuity on the part of Lepard and his Cinerama crew.

Despite the rush, Lepard plans to beat the April 22 opening by a month, setting up the show at Flushing Meadows early to get the bugs out.

Infant Bitten, Mauled to Death By Alaskan Dog

WOODSTOCK, Ill. (AP) — A 4-month-old boy was bitten and mauled to death Monday by an 80-pound Alaskan malamute dog.

The boy, James Michael Henderson, was dragged out of the family car by the dog, which had been purchased a month ago by the infant's father, James E. Henderson, 20, as a watchdog. The boy, who was bitten more than a dozen times on the head and body by the 5-year-old sled dog, died in a hospital 90 minutes after being attacked.

Henderson, a dog trainer, told police the dog attacked the baby after Henderson left the infant on the seat of his car and went into his home. He and his wife, Kathryn, 17, returned to the car in a few minutes and saw the dog mauling the baby in the driveway.

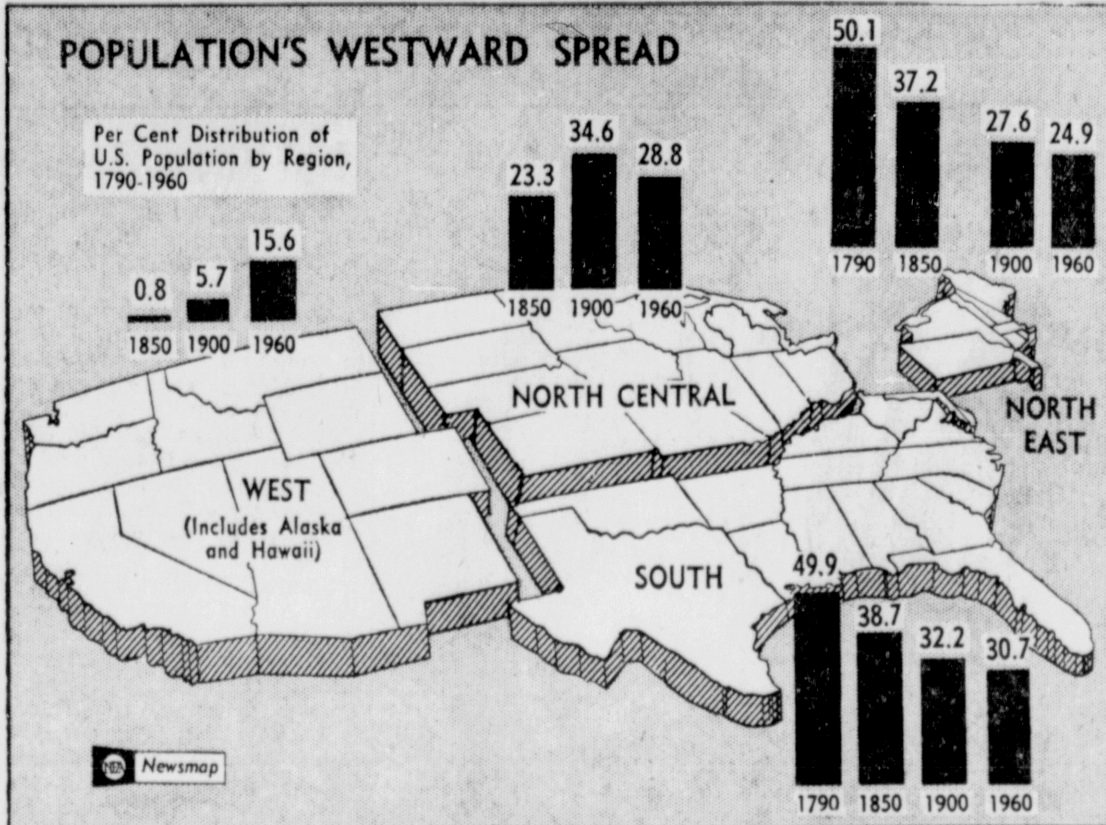

Another Broken Arm

SEATTLE (AP) — G.L. Hollingsworth, 44, director of the Boeing Scientific Research

Laboratories, has discovered neither boating nor skiing is an exact science.

A week ago a cast was removed from Hollingsworth's right arm, broken in a boating accident. Sunday he broke the left one while skiing.

CALL OF THE WEST—At the time of the first census in 1790, when the United States was one year old, the entire population was counted in the Northeast and South. Today, while the great majority of the nation's 185 million people still live east of the Rockies, the most rapid increases are in the West, especially California. Are Firms Done With Automation?

Debate Is Growing on How Big A Problem Unemployment Is Now

By DARDEN CHAMBLISS
AP Business News Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — The head of Chrysler Corp. says his company has gone about as far as it wants to go in replacing men with machines.

"We've already over-automated in some ways," says Chrysler President Lynn Townsend. "It reduces our flexibility."

Accordingly, he said, new plants will need as many men as existing plants. Many other industrialists, he guessed, are reaching a similar conclusion.

This is fresh testimony on one side of a debate on whether unemployment is likely to get dangerously worse.

May Not Be So Heavy
Recent interviews with businessmen and economists uncovered a strong feeling that unemployment won't increase materially and that the present burden may not be so heavy after all.

(about 4 1/2 per cent of the labor force jobless) without structural damage if the politicians will merely keep quiet," says Vice President Benjamin Stacey of Boston's First National Bank.

Many say statistics are misleading. Breadwinner joblessness is low, second-income wives account for many job seekers. Voluntary job-switching could be greater than presumed. Employment is probably almost as "full" as it realistically can be, they say.

Other View
There is a vigorous dissent view.

W. J. Bassett, executive officer of the Los Angeles County Federation of Labor, AFL-CIO, says "If we don't do something, pretty soon two-thirds of us will be supporting the other third."

Many see a growing unemployment among the young unskilled that threatens dangerous racial and social upheavals. It could also, they warn, destroy this decade's brightest economic hope: the push that's supposed to come when the postwar baby crop starts buying houses, cars and appliances.

"It's hard to rationalize the Soaring Sixties when you realize we have to find jobs for all these people before they can buy anything," says Thomas Moses, president of Investors Diversified Services in Minneapolis.

The racial danger is cited by President Howard Johnson of the Atlantic Steel Co. in Atlanta. He says Negroes have for decades made up 25 to 30 per cent of his work force — as they have in the general population locally.

"But as we go to new machines," Johnson says, "the colored are losing a little ground, I'm afraid."

They tend to have the kind of low-skill jobs that are being eliminated, he says. (President George Meany of the AFL-CIO has termed automation a curse, saying industry is in a "mad race" to install push-button machines without proper regard for the impact on society.)

Some other businessmen say it is easy to exaggerate the job-destroying threats of automation.

Chrysler View

Chrysler's Townsend says his firm has many operations that could run almost unaided by humans. But humans are by far the cheapest way to make the changes required to provide the variety of style and model buyers demand.

Some businessmen are taking a new look at the people previously displaced and added to the rolls of longtime, hard-core unemployment. There were fears that these workers would be left behind, even in booming times, because of low education, low skills or racial disadvantages.

However, many of them have been snapped up in the current auto upsurge, says Woodrow Ginsberg, research director for the AFL-CIO United Auto Workers Union in Detroit.

For those who can't find a place in technical society, efforts to expand openings have been proposed.

On Servant Hiring

S. B. Fuller, president of Fuller Products Co., a Chicago cosmetics firm, proposes that the cost of hiring servants be made tax deductible.

It would make it possible for more people to afford maids, gardeners, chauffeurs and butlers, he says, and perhaps generate two million jobs.

Many say some wage and hour restrictions should be waived for teenagers to make hiring them easier. It would help tide them over to adult years, teach them work habits and help finance additional education, they insist.

Few people seem to believe unemployment will disappear soon as a major problem. Its roots in basic economics are too deep, and there's little agreement on final solutions.

Meeting Date for B'nai B'rith Women Is Changed to Thursday; Panel Discussion

Mrs. Irvin Gellen, president of B'nai B'rith Women, announced that the November meeting will take place Thursday, the 21st, not on Wednesday as previously announced. The change to Thursday will be only for this month.

The meeting, which will open at 8:30 p. m. at the Jewish Community Center, will highlight a provocative discussion on the "Teen-ager in 3-D: Drinking, Driving and Dating." Taking part in the panel leading the discussion will be Attorney Aaron E. Klein, Mrs. Alfred Horowitz, and high school students Miss Sherry Singer and Samuel Nussbaum. Robert A. Kurland, executive director of the center, will be the moderator.

Program co-chairmen Mrs. Arnold Pinsky and Mrs. Robert A. Ronder have announced that a question and answer period will follow. Aiding in the program arrangements are Mrs. Jacob Rubenstein and Mrs. Stanley Kaplan. A business meeting will precede the program, which in turn will be followed by refreshments. The community has been invited to attend.

Prominent one of the meeting's agenda will be a report on the Hudson Valley Council's fall conference, held last Sunday at Singers Hotel, Spring Valley. Attending the event were Mrs. Arnold Pinsky, who conducted a workshop; Mrs. Gellen, chapter president; Mrs. Jerry Cohen, president; Mrs. Seymour Semif, delegate, and Mrs. Marvin Mill-

Plans will be furthered for a toy rummage sale scheduled for Dec. 9 and 10 at 70 Broadway. Fund-raising chairmen Mrs. Ronald Wolfeld and Mrs. Harold Beller announced this event at a recent board meeting held at the home of Mrs. Stanley Wyman of Saugerties. Members will be urged to contribute used-but-still-useable toys, costume jewelry and anything else that might be sold to augment the chapter's many philanthropic and community service projects.

B'nai B'rith members last week joined with other organizations in lending a hand with clerical work necessary to enable the Ulster County TB and Health Association to carry on its Christmas Seal fund-raising effort. During recent months members have driven patients to and from the CP Clinic and the Tumor Clinic, and collected clothing for family whose home was destroyed by fire. B'nai B'rith Women also organized and carried out parties for girls at the Wassail Home and ran a theatre party whose proceeds are earmarked for an annual scholarship.

Last month B'nai B'rith's ranks were increased by 22 as Mrs. Seymour Semif and Mrs. Arnold Pinsky, in a beautifully moving and enlightening ceremony, inducted the following new members: the Mmes. Milton Goldstein, Norman Berg, Morton Brett, Ira Trast, Arnold Sosner, Robert Kurland, Harold Monash, Massie Mehl, Allen Meyer, Jerry Greenberg, Clara Lipton, Jacques Sabbah, Larry Katz, Ira Goodman, Riva Stutz, Joseph Hilsenrath, Paul Johnson, Joseph DiBernardo and Irving Brower.

Other new members include Mrs. David Rattner and Mrs. Robert B. Wolfson.

Following the induction ceremonies, two exchange students now taking advanced work at New Paltz State Teachers College entered a large audience with their wit, charm, and comments and comparisons on life in their country and ours. Miss S. Maithey of India spoke of child rearing. She stressed the great respect children of her nation have for their elders, especially their parents.

Said she, "There is no 'teen-age' problem in India."

She showed a variety of articles hand-crafted in her native land, including an assortment of heavy silk saris that brought cries of admiration from her attentive audience. The highlight of her presentation was an impromptu demonstration of how to put on a sari. Mrs. John Levy was the willing model.

Miss Elena Rossi of Italy, who spoke of schooling in her native land, declared that education at that level would be high school level here. She also spoke briefly of Italian politics and minimized the influence there of the Communist Party.

In Italy, it is far less costly than one imagines to have a favorite dressmaker whip up a creation especially to suit your particular dimensions, said she. Miss Rossi stated that Italian teen-agers have comparatively little freedom, but rebel when they get the opportunity.

But, she summed up, there is very little basic difference between her country and ours. "In fact," she declared, "I feel right at home here!"

An international snack-buffet, marking UN day, closed the meeting in October.

Legion Auxiliary Stocks Gift Shops; Veterans to Benefit

Members of the Kingston Post 150, American Legion Auxiliary, are joining their counterparts throughout the county and state in formulating plans to staff the gift shop counters at the Albany Veterans Hospital, it was announced today.

Auxiliary officials said the 12th Annual "Operation Gift Shop" is to provide hospitalized veterans an opportunity to send their loved ones some little memento at Christmas time.

Mrs. June Murphy, local Rehabilitation Committee chairman, said there are some 1,000 hospitalized veterans in the Albany hospital at present and that auxiliary throughout the state must provide a large number of gifts. Thus, she said, the local auxiliary solicits the aid of the general public and requests that anyone wishing to donate new gifts suitable for hospitalized veterans to send home to their families, to contact the Legion post or leave the gifts at the Legion Memorial Building, 18 West O'Reilly Street.

Mrs. Murphy pointed out that cosmetics, candy, food or anything perishable or breakable cannot be accepted. She said that gifts received will be wrapped and placed on display in the post recreation room. An open house display is scheduled from 2 to 4 p. m. Auxiliary units from Ulster County will be at the Albany hospital on Tuesday, Dec. 3, to assist in the wrapping of gifts.

Mrs. Murphy said that auxiliary members who plan to assist on Dec. 3 are requested to meet at 9 a. m. on that day in the third floor recreation room. Auxiliary hat or hospital workers uniform should be worn while working on the project, she said.

Anyone wishing to donate to the cause is requested to send his or her contribution to the unit rehabilitation chairman or leave them at the West O'Reilly Street building before Wednesday.

New Organization For Family Group; Bevier - Bouvier

Descendents of the original Bevier family, who settled in the New Paltz area in 1674, met recently to organize a family association. A meeting and luncheon took place at the Old Fort at 12:30.

Luncheon was served at the Old Fort and a family meeting was held at 2 p. m. in the fire-side room.

Allan U. Bevier of Baltimore, Md., who is president of the organization, conducted the meeting. Reports were given by Paul Kurtz, secretary; Louis Hasbrouck Bevier of Gardiner, treasurer; and John A. Bevier of Scotia, membership. Kenneth E. Hasbrouck, president of the Huguenot Historical Society, New Paltz, Inc., was appointed generalist.

Plans include maintenance of the family homestead in New Paltz which was built in 1693; a family newsletter; coat of arms; and acquisition of family furnishings particularly those of the 18th Century.

It was stated that most of the original Bevier documents are now in New Paltz deposited in the vault at the Memorial House, headquarters of the Huguenot Historical Society.

The various spellings of the family name were also discussed. As members of the family moved west, the spelling changed from its original form, Bevier, to Bouvier in Pennsylvania and Bouvier, out west.

Among those attending were Mr. and Mrs. Richard A. Bevier of Des Moines, Iowa and Mrs. Lois Penne Knapp of Duluth, Minn. The states of Maryland, New Jersey and New York were also represented.

HOUSE GUEST ACCEPTS A DATE

Q—Is it discourteous for a girl who is a house guest to go out for an evening with a boy if the girl she is staying with is not included? I spent a week at a girl friend's house recently and one night during my visit we went to a party. I met a very nice boy at this party and he asked me to go out with him the following night. I accepted. My girl friend seemed rather put out when I told her. Was I wrong to have accepted this invitation?

A—Before accepting this boy's invitation you should have checked with your friend to make certain she had no plans for you for that evening. If she had no special plans, you could then have asked, "Do you mind if I go out with John?" and let your decision to go or not to go be guided by the tone of her answer.

When Paying an Unexpected Visit

Q—When visiting a friend in the afternoon and finding that she has guests, is it proper to stay or should the unexpected visitor leave as soon as possible?

A—If they are playing bridge or seem to be having a conversation that you are interrupting, you should make some excuse and leave. But if the conversation is general and you are urged to stay, you may do so.

Which Fork to Use?

Q—When a dinner table is set with two or more forks, does one use the fork nearest the plate first and work out, or is the fork farthest from the plate used first?

A—The one farthest from the plate is used first.

Broilers—Bargain Buy

Today's broiler industry provides a quality product at a retail price well below the price of a dozen years ago. Broilers, sometimes called fryers, are tender-meated birds that grow to marketable weight in the short span of 8 to 10 weeks. Efficiency in production and increased production mainly account for the price decline. This year more than 2,100 million birds are expected to come to market. That's 33 times as many as in the 1930's when the commercial broiler industry began, says Louise M. Kakara, assistant home demonstration agent.

For best keeping quality and flavor, select ready-to-cook poultry. Poultry prepared in this way has been bled, picked, and eviscerated (i.e. the head, feet, and inedible organs removed). The eviscerated have been washed, trimmed and wrangled. Ready-to-cook poultry has the least waste. The shrinkage from dressed to ready-to-cook poultry is about 27 per cent. At that rate, although you pay about one-fourth more per pound for ready-to-cook poultry, the meat costs the same.

It is important to know what to look for in high-quality poultry. Top quality poultry has the most eye-appeal for your table. To be sure of high quality when you are choosing poultry, look for these characteristics:

Meatiness—Plump body with broad, meaty breast and meaty thighs. This means more meat for your money.

Fat Covering—A good fat covering which means tender meat. In meat suitable for roasting and stewing, the fat is evenly distributed under the skin, giving it a light yellow cast. Young poultry may not have so much fat covering the carcass as older birds have.

Other Important Things to Look For—Poultry for roasting, especially, look for a straight breastbone, and skin that is free of pinfeathers, tears, and bruises.

Buy ½ to 1 pound of ready-to-cook poultry for each serving.

Here is a recipe for broiled chicken: Time 45 to 60 minutes.

1. Grease the broiler rack and adjust it so the chicken will

- be about 6 to 8 inches from the source of heat.
 - Preheat the broiler.
 - Brush both sides of the chicken with melted fat and season with salt and pepper. Place the chicken on the rack with the skin side down.
 - Broil. Brush the chicken with melted fat frequently. Turn the pieces as they brown.
 - Broil until the joints move easily and until the skin is evenly browned. Serve on hot plates.
- This method may be used for turkey or duckling.
- Cooked poultry is very perishable. It is important to refrigerate poultry as soon after the meal as possible. To prevent drying, wrap well or place in a container with a tight lid. Use within one or two days for best flavor.

Salisbury of Times Will Speak Nov. 21 At Dutchess College

He will talk on "Russia and China" in the afternoon and "America and Communism" in the evening. Both talks will be in Dutchess Hall for college students only.

During World War 2, Mr. Salisbury was London Manager of the United Press and Director of European coverage in 1943. Special assignments took him to North Africa and to Teheran to cover the Big Four meeting there.

In 1944 the journalist made his first visit to Russia when he accompanied Eric Johnston, then Head of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce on a fabulous 6000-mile odyssey through the Urals, Siberia and Central Asia, visiting big Russian steel, munitions and aircraft factories as well as the "forbidden" cities of Samarkand and Tashkent.

In 1944, he spent eight months inside Russia, traveling some 25,000 miles, visiting various liberated cities and front areas and spending considerable time with the Red Army.

At war's end, he returned to the United States to become Foreign News Editor of the UP, covering the inaugural conference of the United Nations at San Francisco and subsequent UN sessions until the end of 1948. The New Year of 1949 saw Mr. Salisbury join the staff of the New York Times, three months later, he was in Moscow as its correspondent in the Soviet Union. Mr. Salisbury has traveled more extensively in the Soviet Union than any other correspondent except Walter Duranty. He has visited the Ukraine, such cities as Odessa, Leningrad, Stalingrad and Stalin's home country, Georgia.

Balm Eases Grief

Jerry Lewis Show Ending Dec. 14th

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Comedian Jerry Lewis today found himself without a show on ABC-TV but his grief is somewhat mitigated by a $4-million settlement of his contract.

That estimate of the network's payoff in canceling Lewis' live two-hour Saturday night show came from a legal source close to him.

Jerry himself was not talking beyond the terse statement issued by the network that the show would be dropped at Lewis' request effective Dec. 14. Difference of opinion over format was given as the reason. The network did not elaborate. Lewis in a prepared statement, said that since the difference of opinion had little chance of being resolved in the immediate future, he felt it would be better to halt the show and make a fresh start at some time in the future.

Dewey Logan, president, urges all members to attend the meeting as plans will be made for the coming year and it is important that each member take an interest in the board activities.

An educational program, which will be held Jan. 9 for salesmen, will be outlined by the education committee.

DIFFERENT FLAG: When we use this expression today, we are speaking of deceitful action by someone. The expression started with pirates who would sail under the flag (or colors) of a friendly nation. But when they approached a cargo ship they would raise the pirate flag and "show their true colors."

Shift Is Outmoded According to Calif. Designers; Drapes

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. Brilliant colors and huge flowered prints turned up in every collection Monday as California's resort wear designers opened their press week showing for the nation's fashion editors.

The colors included hot pinks, fiery yellows, ripe tangerine, Mediterranean turquoise and late summer green.

Last year's shift is as outmoded as a potato sack. Draping outlines the bosom. Seams show the waist. Belts ride the hips.

If it doesn't have a sleeve, it's last year's. Koret of California sewed blouse sleeves on a vest and made it a jacket. There's a sleeveless blouse underneath.

Geno of California revived bat wing sleeves on shifts and sinuous patio dresses. Tabak had short sleeves on its tunic and fringe-draped sheaths.

Shifts ending three inches above the knee, were copied from Mexican peasant wedding dresses. Jackets, even to the embroidery, were reproductions of Mexican wedding shirts.

Slacks and lounge trousers are wider and longer. John of California had flowing trousers for beach and patio wear. Koret borrowed sailor's bellbottoms and lengthened Bermuda shorts to kneecappers.

Take It From Kathy Too Harsh or Fair?

By KATHY PETERSON

Dear Kathy: I am 15 and a high school sophomore. This afternoon my mother took the phone from me and hung it up saying: "I've had enough of your talking on the telephone."

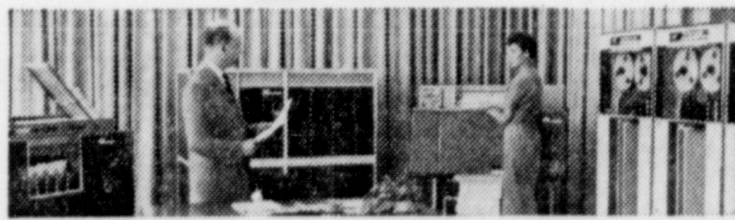

I had been talking to a boy for only 10 minutes. When he called back to find out why I had hung up on him in the middle of a sentence my mother told him never to call again.

Isn't there such a thing as parents being too strict?—N.G.L.
Dear N. G. L.: It pays to use a little courtesy, common sense and politeness even when "giving orders." Your mother might have been too abrupt, but not necessarily too strict. Could she have asked you too many times to do something just before that call? Was someone else waiting to use the phone? Had your telephone time been restricted as a punishment? You'll have to supply the rest of the facts... but remember while you judge that parents DO have the right to make the rules.

New Paltz Soccer Team to Play in Regional Tournament

Hall of Fame Nominee

Lawrence Was Leading Manager for 30 Years

Although not as well known as some of the more glamorous names in the local baseball Hall of Fame, Lester Lawrence of Ashokan started his career way back in 1910.

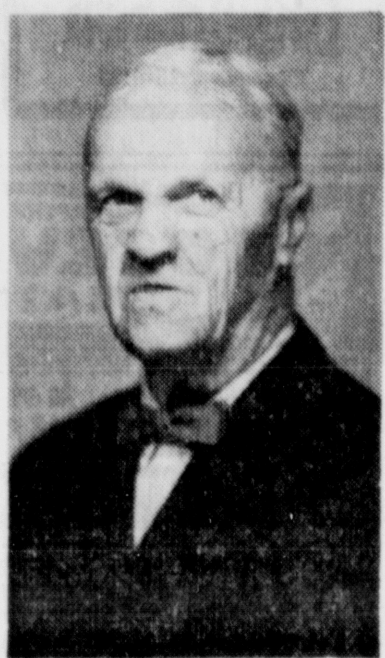

Lawrence will be inducted into the Old Timers Baseball on Thursday, Dec. 4, in ceremonies scheduled at the Elks Lodge in Kingston. Also to be inducted are Bill Lohman of New Paltz, former major league pitcher; and William McAuliffe, a member of the original Kingston Colonial cast in the early 1920's.

A retired machinist with the New York City Department of Water Supply at the Ashokan Reservoir, organized and managed the High Falls team. He was left-handed all the way and recalls he purchased his first glove for 25 cents. He played first base and throughout his career was respected as a good long ball hitter.

Prolific Organizer

It was a steady process of organizing and moving for Lawrence. He left the High Falls team and moved to Stone Ridge where he organized and managed the team there. The next shift was to Olive Bridge where he again organized and managed the town team there during the construction of the Ashokan Reservoir.

Every contractor had a good ball club in that golden era of independent baseball and it was at Olive Bridge that Lawrence earned his greatest recognition. He attracted many well known Kingston area players to the team, among them the late Jack Robins, Dick Dulin, Johnny Johnston, Jim Martin, Bill Hornbeck, Fred Traphagen, Rud North and many others.

30 Years in Game

Lawrence also played with Herzog's in the Kingston Twilight League. In all he spent 30 years promoting and managing baseball teams in the area. He never gained the widespread recognition heaped on some of his contemporaries, but the baseball trade recognized him as a solid baseball man.

The annual Old Timers dinner is open to the public and the ticket sale is now under way. Tom Meany, promotion director of the New York Mets, has promised O.T.B.A. officials the club will be represented by one of the players. The name will be announced soon.

Hawks Receive At-Large Invite To Annual Event

The soccer team at New Paltz College, which just finished compiling the best record in the history of the sport at the school, has received an at-large invitation to the College division of the Atlantic Coast Regional soccer tournament.

Stated at Tufts College in Medford, Mass., on Friday and Saturday of this week, the tournament features the four best clubs along the Eastern seaboard.

Set 20 Records

New Paltz, coached by Al Miller, had a 9-2-1 record and set 20 school records in the process. This is Miller's third year at New Paltz and his soccer teams have been improving each time. The 1961 team had a 2-6 mark. It jumped to 6-4 last season. The Hawks finished second in the State University Athletic Conference behind the champion Cortland team.

"The boys and myself are very happy and highly honored to receive the invitation to this tournament. We have been practicing hard and hoping to be selected by the committee," Miller said.

In order to win the tournament, the Hawks will have to capture two straight games. If they lose on Friday, the best they can do is finish in third place. New Paltz is entered in the college division because the NCAA permits the school to use freshmen athletes on varsity teams.

Cortland, which last year played in the university division of the tourney, did not receive an invitation for either division this year.

Mets Sign Youth To Bonus Pact

A king-sized 17-year old left-handed pitcher who won 19 and lost only four in his final two high school seasons, today was signed by the New York Mets for their Salinas, California State League affiliate.

He is Jerauld Edward (Jerry) Davey of West Sacramento, Calif., 6 ft. 2 inch, 155 pounds, and a fastballer.

Jerry was signed for an undisclosed bonus at the recommendation of Scout Roy Pardee and Sub-Scout Fred Bradley. A cousin of Babe Dahlgren, former major league first baseman, Jerry won't reach his eighteenth birthday until next February 26. In his junior year at Clarksburg High in Sacramento, Davey won eight and lost two, pitching one no-hitter. As a senior, he was 11-2 with two no-hitters. In one seven-inning game, he struck out 17 batters. He also pitched American Legion ball for the Elk Grove Post and attended Sacramento City College after his high school graduation last June.

As a senior, Jerry was voted by teammates as the outstanding baseball and basketball player in his school and he co-captained while playing left tackle on the football team. He was a B student.

Shufeldt's Ace May Win Scotland Trip

A. B. Shufeldt, 71 Johnston Avenue, a member of The Twaalfskill Club, Inc., came up with a hole-in-one this season that could earn him a trip to Scotland for two and $1,000.

He needed only one swipe at the ball to zero in for an ace at Twaalfskill recently that entitled him to enter the third annual Old Smuggler Hole-in-One Sweepstakes.

The winner will be announced in January.

'WHAT'D THEY PUT IN THAT STUFF?'

Many Good Ones, But

Staubach: Stick-out in Year Of Some Hidden Grid Stars

BY HARRY GRAYSON
Sports Editor
Newspaper Enterprises Assn.

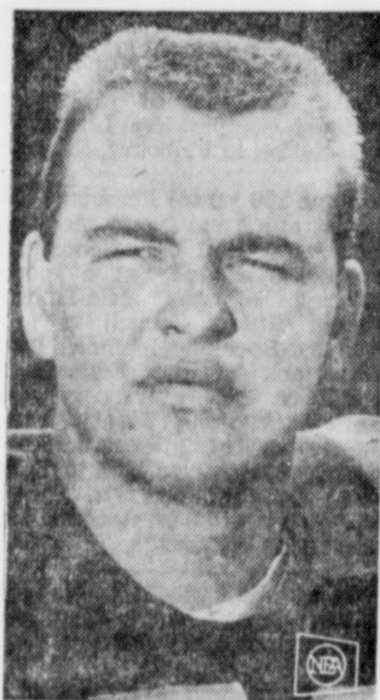

NEW YORK (NEA)—There isn't any question that football—college and profession—keeps getting better and better.

The fields this season are full of superior performers, yet for some strange reason only one name stands out in the college ranks—that of Navy's Roger Staubach, who as a junior is being called the college quarterback of this generation. Outside of Staubach, this well could be called the year of the anonymous college stars.

Where are they hiding the Red Granges, Bronko Nagurskis, Don Hutsons, Tom Harmon and Dick Kazmaiers? How are they screening the breakaway backs, pass-catching ends, people-eating tackles, blocking guards who pull out with a punch and the devastating linebackers?

A year ago at this time, any 12-year-old kid interested in football knew of Jerry Stovall of Louisiana State, Oregon State's Terry Baker, Penn State Dave Robinson, Southern California's Hal Bedsole, Alabama's Lee Roy Jordan, Minnesota's Bobby Bell and Oregon's Mel Renfro and Wisconsin's Pat Richter.

Ask that same kid to name a stickout college player of this year, and, save for Staubach, you'll get a blank stare unless the player performs in the youngster's immediate neighborhood. The average fan would be hard pressed to name one.

DICK BUTKUS
"One best player"

It is difficult to put your finger on why this is a year of anonymous college stars. It could be that only Staubach possesses that inherent characteristic called glamor. Still you can't buy that point after watching such flamboyant and stand-up-and-cheer quarterbacks as Billy Lothridge of Georgia Tech and the Air Force's Terry Isaacson.

The pros have taken a great deal of attention from the college players, especially in 20 major cities. The fact remains, however that college attendance is up and the talent is there. Like Dick Butkus, the 6-4, 240-pound junior center who has had so much to do with Illinois' rejuvenation.

"Butkus is the best college linebacker I have ever seen," reports Kaye Kessler, veteran football authority of the Columbus Citizen-Journal. "He has fantastic lateran movement and a sixth sense smelling out the ball carrier. He is the one best player I have seen all year."

That's the one nice thing about All-America selections. They pull neglected linemen, who do the job where games are won, out of obscurity. Like Rick Redman of Washington, "guard on offense, linebacker on defense with tremendous reaction both ways."

But the naming of All-America teams will only accentuate that this was the year of anonymous college stars.

Even then Roger Staubach will remain the one big star as the Cincinnati Wonder Boy runs around the country picking up trophies.

Bears Have Toughie Against Pitt Eleven

By JIM BECKER
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Hanging out the pro football wash, and don't forget to take the "War Plan" out of George Halas' pants pocket before you stick the trousers in the machine.

Papa Bear Halas may need that plan again Sunday, when the Chicago Bears meet the tough Steelers at Pittsburgh. The Bears followed Halas' written instructions to the letter against the Green Bay Packers for a 26-7 victory Sunday but it isn't over yet in the Western Conference of the NFL.

"I'd rather be playing any team in the league than the Steelers," Halas said. "They are tough and punishing." Despite their two victories over the defending champion Packers, it may take a win over the Steelers to avoid a playoff with Green Bay. . . . The Packers, now 8-2, have a pretty soft road home the next four weeks, San Francisco twice, Los Angeles and Detroit. The Bears, 9-1, have Minnesota, San Francisco and Detroit, after the Steelers.

They laughed when the Chicago offensive line got down on its haunches, before the Packers game. The Bears, with the tightest defense in the league, had been having trouble making touchdowns. . . . Offensive

Russell Feeling Heavy Pressure From Jerry West

NEW YORK (AP)—This is bad news for Big Bill, but Jerry West says he's improving.

"If guys like West, Oscar Robertson and Elgin Baylor got any better, they'd drive me right out of the league," Bill Russell, defensive genius of the Boston Celtics, said recently.

"I think I'm better than I was last year," West said. "I'm learning things all the time. This year I've learned to take that last split second before committing myself, before either shooting or passing."

"It has helped."

The figures bear him out. West, Los Angeles Laker backcourt man, continued to lead the National Basketball Association scorers with 456 points through games of Sunday, the league announced today.

His average of 28.5 points a game for 16 games was second only to Wilt Chamberlain of San Francisco, who had 449 points in 14 games for an average of 32.1.

Chamberlain also took the lead in field goal percentage, .506, and holds the edge in rebounds, with 313. Russell has the best rebound average, 25.5, having played in two fewer games than Chamberlain.

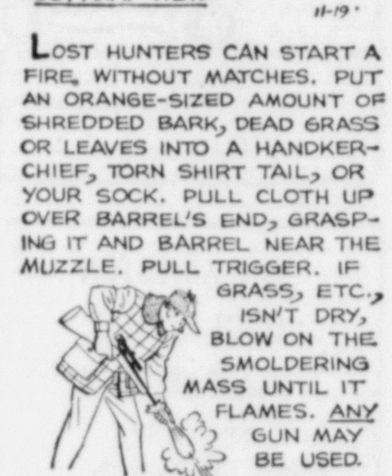

The defending champion Celtics have the top scoring average, 116.6, while San Francisco leads in team defense, allowing an average of only 99.1 per game.

Things aren't over in the Eastern Conference, either, despite the one-game lead held by the New York Giants. . . . The Giants are home to the St. Louis Cardinals Sunday. The Cards are tied for second with the Cleveland Browns, and they trimmed the Browns 20-14 last Sunday. After the Giants-Cardinals game, the Cards meet the Browns again. . . . The two games should settle the Eastern race.

The Giants beat the Cardinals 38-21 earlier this season.

TRADED TO ATHLETICS—Outfielder Rocky Colavito, left, and pitcher Bob Anderson, right, were traded by the Detroit Tigers to Kansas City Athletics for three Kansas City players, the Athletics announced. (AP Wirephoto)

Colavito Expected To Hit 40 Home Runs

KANSAS CITY (AP)—The power-power Kansas City Athletics paid a high price in talent to Detroit for slugger Rocky Colavito, but owner Charles Finley predicted Colavito will hit 40 home runs—and said he will move in the left field fence to help him.

Colavito said he felt capable, but would make no predictions. He added he was "glad to get away from Detroit. . . glad to get away from the front office."

The big right-handed hitting outfielder, who tailed off to 22 homers last season, said the Detroit front office was talking early in the season about trading him.

"I like to feel appreciated," he said, at his home in Temple, Pa. "I would imagine they were not satisfied or they wouldn't be looking to trade me."

The A's gave up Jerry Lumpe, one of baseball's better second basemen, and two front-line right-handed pitchers, Dave Wickersham and Ed Rakow. Kansas City also received Bob Anderson, a right-handed relief pitcher, plus an unannounced sum of cash.

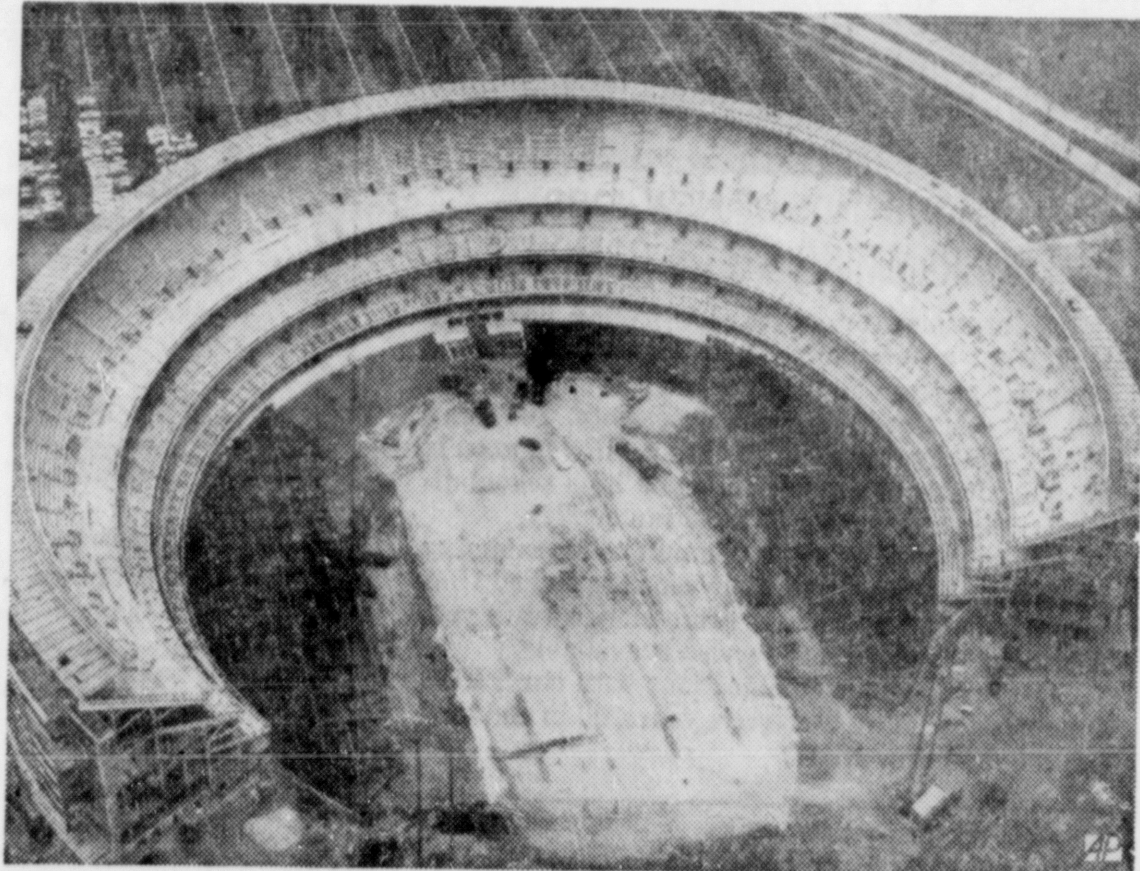

"Certainly it's a gamble," Finley said in Minneapolis.

Dodd, Woodruff Have Settled Their Feud

By BOB GREEN

Associated Press Sports Writer

The world will be happy to know that all is sweetness and light on the southern football front once again. Tennessee Athletic Director Bob Woodruff and Georgia Tech football Coach Bobby Dodd have decided to make up.

They had a fuss of several weeks duration going on before the hand-holding started. It all began when Woodruff charged Dodd of using an illegal "sleeper" play in the Tech-Tennessee game. Dodd angrily denied the allegation.

Relations were strained—in fact, the air was blue—for a while. That's all over now.

Sign Another Pact

"I went out to see Bobby this morning and we talked about several things," like "sleeper" and "contract," Dodd said Monday. "We signed a contract to extend the Tennessee-Tech series through 1970, so you can see we are on friendly terms."

While most major bowl officials and successful major college coaches are panting after one another, Michigan State's Duffy Daugherty and Mississippi's Johnny Vaughn are playing it a little coy.

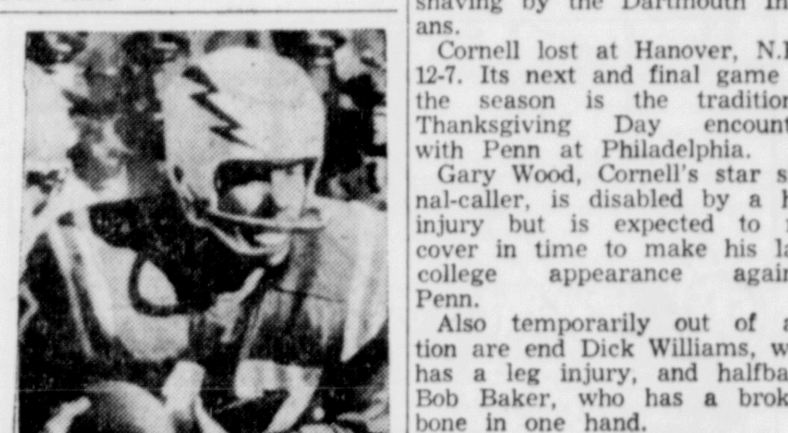

Mississippi, unbeaten, once tied and third in the nation, is a leading candidate for the Sugar Bow. Vaughn, however, says if he had his druthers, he'd druther the Orange, which is committed to the Big Eight champion.

That will be either Oklahoma or Nebraska. Each has Negro players, and such a game would conflict with Mississippi's unwritten law against integrated athletic competition.

"If we get an invitation," Vaughn said, "a decision will have to be made. I've got people to answer to."

Fighting for Title

And Daugherty, of all things, says there are things more important than going to the Rose Bowl. His Spartans are in a fight with Illinois for the Big Ten title.

Prep for Irish

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP)—The Orangemen of Syracuse took it easy Monday after last Saturday's 50-0 rout of Richmond.

Coach Ben Schwartzwalder's charges began heavy drills today in preparation for a Thanksgiving Day football game against the Irish of Notre Dame in New York City.

Two first-string tackles are recovering from injuries and probably will be ready for the battle with Notre Dame.

Dave Archer hurt a shoulder in the West Virginia game two weeks ago and had to sit out the Richmond contest.

Henry Huettner suffered a broken bone in his left hand against Pittsburgh and has not played since.

That Staubach, Just Fantastic, Says His Coach

By JACK HARD

Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — "Roger Staubach reminds me of Wyatt Earp. He is going to be a legend in our time."

Roger's coach, Wayne Hardin of Navy, was the speaker Monday at the New York Football Writers' Association. He was doing his bit for the boy who makes the Middles go.

"Roger is fantastic," said Hardin in one of his more reserved statements. "During a game the kids on the sidelines come up to me and say, 'Coach aren't you glad he is on our side?'"

"He is far and away the finest I have been. I say that with no reservations. I even like to watch him in practice."

When a newsman asked Hardin if he meant that Staubach was the best collegian he had seen, the coach said, "This boy is as good as anybody who ever played the game. I have seen Johnny Unitas and Y. A. Tittle."

Hardin, who will be shooting for his fifth straight over Army Nov. 30 at Philadelphia, said Staubach makes a great play each week and then tops it with a better one the following week.

"Last Saturday against Duke he dropped back to pass, jumped up in the air and apparently was going to be thrown for a loss of eight or 10 yards," he said. "He came down with the ball under his arm. The man hit him but he bounced off his shoulder and took off for a 45 yard net gain."

If he had a little more speed he might have had six points," Hardin described the junior from Cincinnati as a quiet, modest boy who will make a fine naval officer.

"I have seen boys who can pass better, run better, can play better or scramble better but I never saw anyone who can do all those things as well as Roger. I simply can't say enough about him."

Upholstered

HOUSTON, Tex. (NEA) — Bleacher fans have never had it so good as they will in the new $25 million Harris County Sports Stadium being erected in Houston.

There will be 4,325 upholstered chairs in the center field bleachers.

The bleacher seats, although upholstered, won't be quite as fancy as the 40,878 theater chairs installed on six separate levels, but they will be a far cry from the wooden bench-type sitting down places provided in less modern stadiums.

Southwest Conference teams don't need to borrow trouble when playing Texas, but Longhorn Coach Darrell Royal may have sounded a warning when he announced the school's immediate athletic integration, the first in the conference.

"We will recruit those Negroes who fit into our program," he said. He didn't mention any particular prospects, but said his staff has "a pretty good line on recruiting."

Like about a half dozen 9.5 dash men maybe, Darrell?

Upstate Briefs

HAMILTON, N.Y. (AP)—The Red Raiders of Colgate, gored by the Buffalo Bulls last Saturday, spent Monday afternoon's drill sitting down.

Coach Hal Lahar's football team confined activity to a brief squad meeting.

First-string fullback Don Court was hobbling on an injured ankle. His status for Saturday's game against Brown is doubtful.

Rest for Big Red

ITHACA, N.Y. (AP)—Cornell football coach Tom Harp called off practice Monday and said he hoped the day's rest would give the Big Red a chance to recover from Saturday's close shaving by the Dartmouth Indians.

Cornell lost at Hanover, N.H., 12-7. Its next and final game of the season is the traditional Thanksgiving Day encounter with Penn at Philadelphia.

Gary Wood, Cornell's star signal-caller, is disabled by a hip injury but is expected to recover in time to make his last college appearance against Penn.

Also temporarily out of action are end Dick Williams, who has a leg injury, and halfback Bob Baker, who has a broken bone in one hand.

CHICAGO, (AP) — Sid Luckman, former Chicago Bears' quarterback, won a tax suit in circuit court Monday.

The sum represented sales taxes owed the state by Sid Luckman Motors Inc., an auto agency, during the years 1951 through 1953.

Judge William V. Brothers ruled that Luckman could not be held personally liable for a debt incurred by the business.

One Illinois barber placed this sign in his window: "A Painless Shave or Whiskers Refunded." Another announced: "Hair Cut While You Wait."

You have got to go some to beat the other fellow, but when a certain war plant produced a piece of 120-gauge wire, which is almost invisible, the boys felt that they had reached the ultimate of skill. They were so proud of it that they sent a section of it to a rival plant with the message, "This is just to show you what can be done."

No word came back for some weeks. Then a package arrived. Inside was a steel block on which were mounted two steel standards between which was a piece of the same hairlike wire. A small microscope was delicately focused on a certain spot. When the engineers looked at it they found their rivals had bored a little hole in the wire.

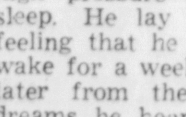

By giving your very best today you can assure a better tomorrow.

Katharine was two and a half years old. Her father came home one afternoon, after working three days and three nights at high pressure with almost no sleep. He lay down with the feeling that he did not want to wake for a week. Half an hour later from the depths of his dreams he heard a small clear voice.

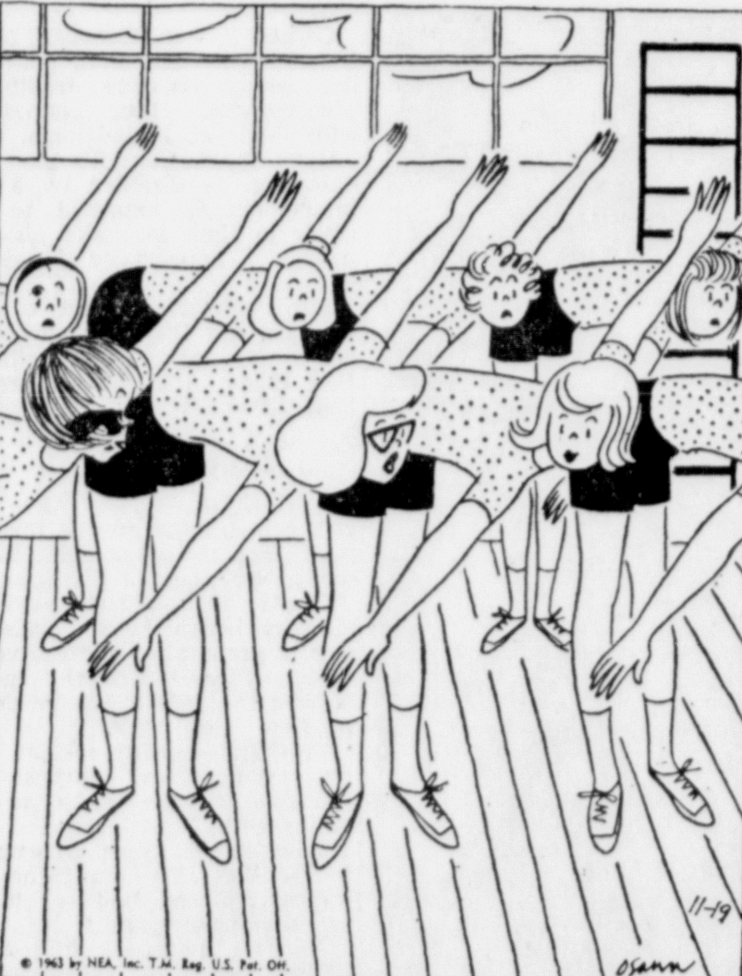

Small Daughter—Father! The sleeper stirred and turned his head on the pillow.

Cambodians Greet News To End Aid

PHNOM PENH, Cambodia (AP)—Thousands of cheering Cambodians yelled their approval today for Prince Norodom Sihanouk's plan to end all U.S. aid by the end of the year. "Go home, Yankee" posters bloomed as the prince, Cambodia's chief of state, assembled his supporters for a mass meeting.

Sihanouk last week called for an end to the $31-million annual U.S. military and economic aid programs by Dec. 31 unless the United States uses its influence to halt hostile radio broadcasts from South Viet Nam and Thailand by Cambodian rebel groups.

Sihanouk charged that the station operated with the blessing of U.S. authorities. American officials in Viet Nam have disclaimed responsibility for the broadcasts. They say they believe the clandestine station is operating inside Cambodia near the South Vietnamese border and moves frequently.

Sihanouk said he was terminating American aid to end "economic imperialism." U.S. officials have expressed concern with his recent flirtation with Red China.

In Washington Monday, State Department spokesman Richard I. Phillips said the United States is awaiting "further clarification of the Cambodians' position" before taking any action on the aid program.

EDITOR'S NOTE — There is general agreement that Lincoln's Gettysburg Address, delivered 100 years ago today, is one of the masterpieces of American literature. But disputes endure over the years about the circumstances in which Lincoln wrote the famous speech.

By J. W. DAVIS

GETTYSBURG, Pa. (AP) — One of America's favorite legends is that Abraham Lincoln dashed off his Gettysburg Address during a six-hour train ride from Washington to the famed Civil War battle site.

History can furnish witnesses on all sides of the case but the weight of evidence is against the tale.

What seems most probable is that Lincoln wrote the first part of this most famous speech in American history before he left Washington, and wrote the rest of it in Gettysburg.

That's the account that Dr. David C. Mearns, a foremost Lincoln scholar, is inclined to accept.

Can't Dismiss Tradition

But of the writing-on-the-train tradition, Mearns says he is not prepared to dismiss it in toto, because:

"It seems perfectly natural that a man who has started on a journey with a speech having an ending that did not satisfy him perfectly, might have brooded about it on the train, and might have written down some catch phrases and catch words."

Mearns has a deep interest in everything Lincoln did and is now chief of the Manuscript Division of the Library of Congress in Washington, in addition to being a member of the National Civil War Centennial Commission.

Mearns' research into the preparation of the Gettysburg Address represents a rare type of scholarship that begins with a conversation in Washington Nov. 15, 1863, between Lincoln and Noah Brooks, a respected journalist, as recorded by Brooks in 1878.

Abe's Role Minor One

Brooks said Lincoln told of receiving an advance copy of the speech by Edward Everett of Boston, the orator chosen to make the main address at the dedication of the national cemetery in Gettysburg. Lincoln's role was planned as a minor one, almost an afterthought.

"It was very kind of Mr. Everett to send me this," Brooks quoted the president as saying. "I suppose he was afraid I should say something that he wanted to say. He needn't have been alarmed. My speech isn't long."

"So it is written, is it then?" Brooks asked.

"Well, no," was the reply. "It is not exactly written. It is not finished anyway. I have written it over two or three times, and I shall have to give it another lick before I am satisfied. But is short, short, short."

Mearns then raises the question: "Did Mr. Lincoln, in the course of that six-hour journey from Washington to Gettysburg Nov. 18, work on his unfinished or then unsatisfactory address?"

On this point, Mearns recalls that Lincoln's senior private secretary, John George Nicolay, was emphatic in his denial.

Thinks It Impossible

"There is neither record, evidence, nor well-founded tradition that Mr. Lincoln did any writing, or made any notes, on the journey," Nicolay wrote in an article for the February 1894 issue of the Century magazine.

"The train consisted of four passenger coaches," Nicolay continued, "and either composition or writing would have been extremely troublesome amid all the movement, the noise, the conversation, the greetings and the questionings which ordinary courtesy required him to undergo in these surroundings; but still worse would have been the rockings and joltings of the train, rendering writing virtually impossible."

Was Lincoln himself ever asked under what circumstances he prepared the speech? He was.

James Speed, who became Lincoln's attorney general, later in 1864, was interviewed by a reporter for the Louisville Commercial in 1879.

Speed related then: "When requested to deliver an address on the dedication of the national cemetery at Gettysburg, he was very uncertain whether his duties would not detain him at Washington—but he was anxious to go—and desired to say some appropriate thing."

Accepts Speed's Version

"The day before he left Washington he found time to write about half a speech. He took what he had written with him to Gettysburg, then he was put in the upper room in a house, and he asked to be left alone for a time."

"He then prepared a speech but concluded it so shortly before it was to be delivered he had not time to memorize it." Mearns concluded: "I would be inclined to accept the Speed version, since he is quoting the President himself. That is the best evidence since, so far as I know, this was the only time Lincoln ever mentioned the circumstances of the writing."

Violence Flares Anew in Baghdad

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — A new wave of firing broke out briefly in Baghdad today as the Iraqi army moved against last-ditch resistance by the Ba'ath Socialist party's national guard.

Sources inside Baghdad reported the firing in a telephone call to Beirut. The connection was broken after the brief report was transmitted.

Iraq's new military government reported Monday night its revolt against the Ba'ath government had been successful. Syrian Ba'athists, however, claimed that the countryside outside Baghdad still was under the party's control.

A tight curfew, clamped on the Iraqi capital at dawn Monday when the military under President Abdel Salam Aref seized power, was lifted partially for the first time this morning. Baghdad Radio said pedestrians would be allowed on the streets from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. but all motor traffic was banned.

Gladys Godding Dies

NEW YORK (AP) — Gladys Godding, known to millions of sports fans as the golden voice of the Star Spangled Banner, died Monday after a heart attack. She was 70.

Hardly any sporting event at Madison Square Garden, or any baseball game at the now defunct Ebbets Field of the old Brooklyn Dodgers, ever began without Gladys leading spectators and players in the National Anthem.

She accompanied herself on the organ. And when the games ended, she serenaded the fans with organ music as they left the stadium.

Gladys was born in Macon, Mo., and lived in Kansas City and Independence, Mo., before coming to New York in 1922.

Quizzed on Blast

TUSCALOOSA, Ala. (AP) — Police questioned an unidentified man today in connection with the third dynamite explosion within three days near the University of Alabama.

The blast occurred shortly after midnight about four blocks from a dormitory where the University's only Negro student, Vivian Malone, has a room.

A foot-deep hole was ripped in the street. Windows were blown out in homes and doctors' offices nearby.

No one was injured in today's blast or by the two similar explosions.

Check Area Fires

Three fire companies were called to as many fires today and Monday in the area. Port Ewen was summoned to a brush fire in Sleightsburg at 10:49 this morning. They returned to service at 11:10. Earlier, East Kingsville extinguished a compressor fire in a brick firm building. Firemen responded at 9:22 and were back in service at 9:22. Modern firemen responded to a brush and wood fire at 5:46 p.m. Monday in Southern Ulster County. They were back in service one hour later.

No More . . .

an instrument of the policy of others, a weapon in an effort dictated by external powers to subvert the other American republics."

If things were different, he said, everything would be possible.

Must Be Done By Cubans

He said that "once Cuban sovereignty has been restored," the United States "will extend the hand of friendship and assistance to a Cuba whose political and economic institutions have been shaped by the will of the Cuban people."

White House sources agreed that Kennedy's statement was an invitation to the Cuban populace to overthrow Fidel Castro. Kennedy was even more direct in restating policy toward attempts by future Castros to seize power in Latin America. He said:

"The American states must be ready to come to the aid of any government requesting aid to prevent a takeover linked to the policies of foreign communism rather than to an internal desire for change. My country is prepared to do this."

Financial and Commercial

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market staged a good recovery early this afternoon from three straight sessions of decline. Trading was moderately active.

A number of blue chips which declined Monday despite encouraging corporate news made gains of fractions to 1 or 2 points.

Steels, motors, utilities, chemicals, electronics and most of the volatile "glamour" issues moved ahead. The oils rebounded irregularly from recent selling on news of the Argentine takeover of American oil properties there.

Rails nudged ahead slightly on balance. Airlines and electrical equipments were unevenly higher. Tobacco slipped fractionally. Rubbers were off a bit on balance.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up 1.2 at 27.3 with industrials up 2.1, rails up .2 and utilities up .6.

General Motors advanced 2 points despite Du Pont's plans to make an additional distribution of 17 million shares of GM stock.

Du Pont rose more than 2. Chrysler, just about erased its previous decline of 1%. Ford and American Motors were steady.

Continental Steel, which boosted its dividend, gained nearly a point. U.S. Steel was steady, Republic and Jones & Laughlin added fractions.

Carlino Signals New Strategy on Off-Track Bets

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP)—The New York Legislature will look into New York City's "inability to contend with illegal gambling," Assembly Speaker Joseph F. Carlino said today.

The announcement appeared to signal a new strategy by New York Republican state leaders opposed to proposals that their state legalize off-track betting on horse races.

The most intense pressure for legalization has come from the Democratic municipal administration of New York City. Mayor Robert F. Wagner has said that legalization of off-track betting would put into government treasuries hundreds of millions of dollars now going into illegal bookmaking operations.

Carlino commented in a speech prepared for delivery to the annual conference of the National Association of Citizens Crime Commissions.

He said that Wagner had responded to illegal gambling by raising "a white flag over City Hall" — advocating legalization of off-track betting.

"I happen not to agree," Carlino said. "I fully expect that the coming sessions will see as much attention devoted to what is needed to defeat the bookies as to proposals that we join them."

Previously, Republican opposition has been based largely on sociological arguments — that off-track betting would lead to an increase in gambling by persons from the lowest income levels.

Carlino said the Legislature would act during its 1964 session "on the admission of the chief officials of the City of New York who, in asking for off-track legalization, predicated their request upon their inability to contend with illegal gambling."

"We will take a searching look," Carlino said, "at both the laws and law-enforcement machinery as it pertains to organized gambling."

Ambulance Crew Praised by Chief In Arrest of Six

Police Chief Robert F. Murphy today commended Gilbert Gray, of New Salem, operator of Doctors' Ambulance Service, 77 Greenkill Avenue, and his assistants for their part in assisting police who apprehended six young men charged with having discharged shotguns in several city areas Sunday.

Gray with James Sijls, of 159 Smith Avenue, rode an ambulance which trailed the group in two cars, while George Dohnken, of Hurley, office dispatcher, relayed information from the ambulance radio to the police. The cars were stopped on the Flatbush Road a short distance beyond the city line. The six were booked on four charges each.

"Had it not been for the assistance given by the ambulance men," the chief said, "the cars might have gotten away. It was excellent and most appreciated assistance, and I commend them highly for it."

Police charge that lights, one a traffic signal, were shot out and a dog was killed in the up-town area. Hearing of charges against the six is pending in city court.

Gray and Dohnken are former policemen.

passage of the state budget in the 1963 Legislature.

The Republican — controlled majority turned down Rockefeller's proposal for an annual increase of $48 million in motor-vehicle registration charges. The legislators argued that the proposal had arrived too late to allow time to determine the best way to trim the budget.

In the face of the loss of the proposed motor — vehicle revenues, the administration cut down on appropriations.

In the aftermath of the dispute, however, the Legislature called for a plan that would provide a year-round budget review.

To become part of the constitution, an amendment must be passed by two separately elected Legislatures, then approved by voters in a general election.

YOKOSUKA, Japan (AP) — The U.S. 7th Fleet oceanographic survey ship Rehoboth returned today after a four-day good-will visit to the Soviet Siberian port of Nahodka, the U.S. Navy announced.

It said the Rehoboth was the third U.S. Navy ship to visit a Russian port since 1945.

Q) "When her father died, my cousin found in his effects shares of Wireless Telegraph Co. of America (Deposit Certificates) and also shares of Marconi Wireless Telegraph Co. of America capital stock. Could you tell me if these securities have any value?" F.L.

A) I'm afraid I can't tell you positively.

Marconi Wireless Telegraph Co. of America was taken over by Radio Corp. in 1919 on an exchange of stock. That's a pretty long time for any investment to lie fallow.

I suggest that you write to Mr. E. B. Giffin, treasurer, Radio Corp. of America, 30 Rockefeller Plaza, New York City—giving full details. As the lawyers say, it is possible that you might hear something to your advantage.

In this instance my memory supplied the answer. Normally, I must ask readers to refer all questions on obsolete securities to firms in New York who specialize in tracing down these issues.

Q) "I am a widow of 65. In 1962 I purchased $1,000 4% per cent convertible debenture of American Pipe and Construction Co. Should I hold the debenture or sell it to invest in growth stocks?" D.S.

A) Your American Pipe debenture is convertible into common stock at 25, until 1967, and thereafter at 23 to maturity. The stock itself now sells around 12 1/2 bid, so you can see that the conversion privilege has doubtful value.

Earnings per share of the company were down 35 per cent in fiscal 1962 and showed little improvement in the first half of fiscal 1963. Your debenture sells on a straight yield basis, and although these bonds are reasonably secure, they appear to have little attraction for gains unless the earnings situation is drastically improved.

I advise you to sell this bond and put the proceeds into Bristol-Myers, one of the most consistent growth situations I know of.

Capitol News In Brief

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

HARKINS: Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana says he hopes what he called the carping criticism of Gen. Paul Harkins, senior U.S. military officer in South Viet Nam, now has been effectively squelched.

Mansfield told his colleagues Monday he is happy that President Kennedy and the Pentagon have announced their full support of Harkins and extended his mission beyond his scheduled return next February.

He said he was disturbed by "seemingly inspired" reports in the press aimed at undermining Harkins in his post.

WHEAT SALE: The proposed sale of 4 million tons of U.S. wheat to Russia and her satellites has been held up again.

Commerce Department officials said Monday the new delay is caused by a proposal, introduced in the Senate by Sen. Karl Mundt, R-S.D., to put limits on the Export-Import Bank's insurance of payments in the sale.

Mundt's limitation is due to be taken up by the Senate in about a week.

The Commerce Department also said there are no applications for export licenses for the wheat pending at present, with none expected this week.

(AP)—Evangelist Billy Graham, making his first speech at a Catholic institution, says the spirit of Christian unity "is the beginning of something so fantastic it could change all of Christendom and will affect you, your children and their children." Graham, a Southern Baptist, spoke to 1,500 priests, novices and seminarians at Belmont Abbey College. He was invited to the school after author Harry Golden, a Jew, introduced him to the college president. Graham said the Vatican Ecumenical Council, and the reform started by the late Pope John XXIII, have produced a "new understanding that might bring a great Christian revolution."

Po'keepsie Police Lt. Faces Hearing On Assault, 2nd

Lt. George H. Traver, 51, a 27-year veteran Poughkeepsie police officer, will have a hearing this afternoon before Justice of the Peace George C. Dietz, on a charge of second degree assault. Traver is charged with shooting John Phillips, 34, Highland taxi driver during an argument in front of the Traver home in Arlington Sunday morning. Traver alleges the gun accidentally fired.

The argument ensued, according to police reports, after Lt. Traver drove to his home after he and his wife left a tavern. She went home by cab. When Lt. Traver arrived he found his wife and the cab driver searching for a house key. Traver allegedly went into the house, got his off-duty automatic and allegedly struck Phillips on the head when the gun accidentally went off and a bullet struck Phillips in the shoulder. Lt. Traver was on vacation at the time.

$40,000 Asked, Says Troopers Roughed Mate

Claiming that her husband was roughed up by State Troopers near Claverack nearly four years ago, a Danbury, Conn., widow is seeking $40,000 damages in the New York State Court of Claims.

In the action, which began Monday before Justice Harold Soden, Mrs. Jessie Monfetti said the incident occurred Dec. 7, 1959, off Route 23 in Claverack. Her husband died last March, but not as a result of the incident, according to testimony.

Monfetti and his wife were parked in a car along Route 23 when Troopers Henry J. Kaiser and John J. McKnight said they came to offer assistance. An argument ensued when troopers said Monfetti pushed one of them. He was charged with disorderly conduct and fined $25. The plaintiff claims her husband was "roughed up."

Nov. 11 was first proclaimed a holiday in the United States by Woodrow Wilson. The observance in 1919 established a tradition of wreath-laying, speeches and parades.
